Foreword

Midst the excitement of the "kick-off" into new and different futures, Senior fans "flash back" to the fun and friends of their memorable social life at Union.

Then suddenly the ball is snapped by Captain Learning who quickly passes to Wholesome Living. Darting swiftly, endeavoring to make a touchdown, he is halted at the one-yard line, just short of his goal. At the half the Underclassmen cheer loudly when once again the team pours onto the field with Co-operation its firm resolve.

Although quick thinking and fast stepping follow, the third quarter ends with an opposing touchdown. Tense minutes fly by leaving the victory, mayhaps, in others' hands, but the Light of Loyalty remains burning as all unite in singing, "We're Loyal to You, Union High . . ."

Dedication

To the men who fought and died so freedom's radiant beams may shine once more on a troubled world, the Aurora staff of 1947 humbly dedicate this yearbook.

Today in Union High stands a memorial, reverent in its symbolism, breathtaking in its splendor. Presented by the senior classes of the last six years, this memorial carved in white oak, portrays the raising of the flag on Iwo Jima and the rising of a new dawn, represented by Norman Rockwell's Four Freedoms.

A tribute to gallant men, it is a reminder of a great debt that can never be repaid and of loyal spirits that must ever be emulated. Its simple inscription echos the prayer in all hearts, "God Grant 'Tis Not In Vain."

School Life

Remember the Prom with soft lights, dreamy melodies, and happy couples such as Warren MacKellar, Joan Lange, Margie Wilder, Bob DeBoer, Charles Cicelski, and Marjorie Schneider — the good times, fun and laughter, and the fellows and gals who proved so true-blue?

The many treasured events of the year include lasting impressions of cluttered lockers, crowded halls, the Senior Mixer, "The Frolics," senior play, excursions, and the never-ending fads in fashion. Then those thrilling games, the grand rushes to and from school, and, most of all, those wonderful gifts of health and happiness throughout the year.

A hidden nucleus of loyalty, love, and joy in their fellowmen will forever have its place in a corner of each Unionite's heart as in later days they recall each happy event.

WE KNOW YOU'RE TRUE BLUE

Fun-Filled Moment

The bell rings, a mad dash, and the cafeteria is reached at last, where nutritious and tempting food is served to all who buy their lunches at school. Union's cafeteria really has everything from soup to nuts and everything is as tasty as it looks. It is hard deciding, as can be told by the pondering expressions revealed here.

The sun is out, the weather is grand, and the boys are out sunning on the steps and banks around school. After a morning of hard, brain-racking studies, it's a relief to get outside to swap jokes and tell fish stories. It looks here as if some big controversy is going on.

Mrs. Bender, Ronald Smeenge, and Mrs. Apple dish out the delicious. Miss Atwood (center) is about to indulge in her favorite dessert, apple pie.

These tellers of tall tales are: Gerald Kragt, Wendell Nyberg, Roger Van Dam, Robert Nelson, and Don Buzalski.

Look again and you will see that these girls are not someone's baby sisters, but the members of the G.U.C. holding their annual Yuletide Kids' Party.

These "kids" are: Barbara Upton, Arlene Ackerman, Darlene Beyer, Lorraine Wozniak with Dena Koenes playing Santa Claus and Donna Joustra, as Merry Christmas.

Liven Leisure Time

A-l-l aboard! And they're off to an out-of-town football game. The Student Council is in charge of chartering these buses and seeing that all reservations and tickets are in order. The buses arrive at the school at 2:30 and wait for the students until the game is over. That's service! On this particular excursion the seniors composed the majority of the cheering section.

High on the bleachers the crowd sits petrified during an important shot in a crucial game just as the tussle draws to a close! Here on the Union Red Hawks' side the student spectators wait breathless in a tense moment at a game with the Creston Polar Bears.

Merrily enjoying their bus ride are:
Helen Meyers, Betty Mollo, Joy Wilson, Harry Havelhorst, Yvonne Wood, Audrey Zeeryp, Shirley Flora, Beverly Fik, Abner Ragins, Ted Jacobs, Dick Meretsky, Don Coates, Marvin Heemstra, and Joe Saplis.

Like busy bees the students swarm up and down the steps as the stairways and halls take on new life when the bell rings to acknowledge the end of three periods of study and, one and all, the fellows and girls dash off to their respective lockers to snatch their coats and lunches and either file up to the cafeteria or go to one of the eat shops in the vicinity.

Seniors Stage Riots

A play is more than just the cast, as ambitious committee members found when confronted with setting the stage, securing properties, publicizing the play, obtaining program ads, and running the backstage smoothly. The members of the stage crew pictured are (left to right): Chuck McNulty, Norris Brookens, and Gerald Tomasik, all of whom are watching Bob Trapp give a curtain signal. Cast members waiting for their cues are Felicia Staskiewicz and Donna Wichert. The committee handled lighting problems and set difficulties with the ease and capability of veteran technicians and managers.

Given the go-signal for the three-act comedy, "Go Ahead" on February 6 and 7, the seniors followed through with two successful performances. The uproarious portrayal of Jacob Steiglitz by Abner Ragins in his encounters with a life-long friend, Maurice Koppler (Otto Reisman off stage), was hilariously received by the audience.

In the scene at the Kopplers' home, Steiglitz is informing Koppler, his daughter Zorah (Lynne Waddell) and David (Harry Havelhorst), his own son, that an occasion like David's graduation from college calls for a speech, while Leo VonFreisheim (Val Smitter), Kopplers' nephew, listens in.

It's "Frollies" Time

"One, two, three, shift!" shouted the masculine voices of the owners of the muscular legs pictured at the right as the Varsity boys came forth with a slightly detectable and decidedly laughable impersonation of the girls' Froliette line at the annual "Frollies" held March 6. The boys kept the audience in spasms of laughter as they precariously pranced and frolicked in their quaint costumes and demure manner, and with these antics showed their talent for grace in fields other than football. Poised for a kick are: (left to right) Bill Reynders, Bill Clinger, Donald Wiest, Bernard Kisielewski, Howard Fletcher, and Ken Baxter.

"The Old and the New" was the theme of this year's "Frollies" when the curtain went up on two hours of sparkling entertainment featuring modern stage acts compared with those of yesteryear. The girls' chorus line, "The Froliettes" was, as usual, the main attraction. Seen in action (left to right) are: B. Blink, B. Koolman, D. Faulkner, P. Nyberg, L. Havinga, N. VerHowe, M. L. Wilder, D. Hill, P. Joustra, M. Wilder, and A. Ackerman.

A special feature in this year's show was the "Fashion Display" by seven male members of the faculty. This act was received with delight by the students, who had never dreamed their teachers possessed so much poise and talent as well as such showmanship. The production was sponsored by Mrs. Margaret Black, girls' physical education teacher, assisted by Miss West, Mr. Stanley Albers, Mr. John Whitaker, and Miss Delores Whitaker '46.

It's a Great Life

Boasting tasty ice-cream cones, juicy hot dogs, and refreshing soft drinks, "Union's Soda Bar" lures scores of hungry students every noon where they take full advantage of the opportunity to chat with pals.

Crumpling paper bags and munching sandwiches while carrying on a conversation is a simple accomplishment for students, as this contented group of "lunchers" prove while eating in their home-room, 228.

"Oh, for a chance at the phone!" is the theme of Joustra, Cummings, Bergers, and Porrey, as they eagerly await the use of the new conveniently installed phone booth across from room 124.

"Slam!" go the locker doors as they are hurriedly closed in a not-so-gentle manner by frenzied students who view their cluttered "holds" with fondness and rush on to their classes.

Gay frolickers at the "Adventurer's Quest" at Elmer Snoop and Dolly Gates as they laughing dance through the unique "lighthouse," clever provided by Don Wiest. Dale Demerest's band plus colorful cardboard sailors and fish, add the fun to make one big, jolly time for all. Combined efforts of Reflector members made the hilarious occasion possible.

Hearty laughter, scrumptious doughnuts, and tasty cider will always remind social Unionites of that fun-packed dance, "The Cider Jug Jig." Sponsored by the senior class the party was a huge success. Irene Sowinski and Ann Speth (lower left) dutifully serve the sweet apple juice while Abner Ragins and Nancy Bylan soberly enjoy it. Harry Havelhorst reaches for the sky while John Berdokaitis, Lois Russell, and Dolores Koets cheerfully trade tall tales.

Dreamy waltzes, peppy fox trots, and merry polkas rank high as favorites for Unionites, but jitterbugging still holds its place in the hearts of Shirley Andress and Maureen Higgins as they gayly perform at the ever-popular noon-hour dance in the girls' gym.

Out Merry Times

Stepping up in the world are Barbara DeYoung and Harold Van Hoff as they prepare for that special spring dance, "The Bunny Hop." Bob Bloom lends an eager hand as he holds the rickety ladder and Norma Haan helps with the crepe paper. The "Hop" turned out to be a jovial spring success enjoyed by a large crowd. Decorating committees are all too often left the unsung heroes of an evening of gaiety, and they certainly deserve the glory and credit due to them.

Ora Mae Blok, Carol Veldman, and Kay Romine (lower left) will have loads of experience if they choose to play the roles of housewives. It's a great world, according to Elmer Snoop, who gleefully looks on while the gals fulfill that never-to-be-omitted job of cleaning up after the "Bunny Hop." This gay occasion was the fruit of a great deal of work done by the public speaking class.

A beaming smile is typical of cute June Schulz, shown here primping to make her natural freshness even more attractive. Unionites can frequently be seen fulfilling this daily rite of combing hair, patching lips, and erasing shiny noses. It's a joyful duty and one easily taken care of by lovely June.

Sports

Take a little pep, sprinkle it with vitality, season well with vim and you have Bob Trapp, Colleen Freeman, Pat Dressler and Jack Rohe, active cheerleaders, whose shouting, "Come on and yell," has made many an Unionite perk up when the going was tough.

Take a lot of sportsmanship, plus plenty of co-operation and loyalty and you have the Red Hawks, big, bashful heroes of many thrilling games—football, basketball, track, tennis; their sidekicks, the little hard-working, unrecognized water boys and managers; and the heroines of the sports world, the girls who demonstrate that they can hold their own in badminton, bowling, and speedball.

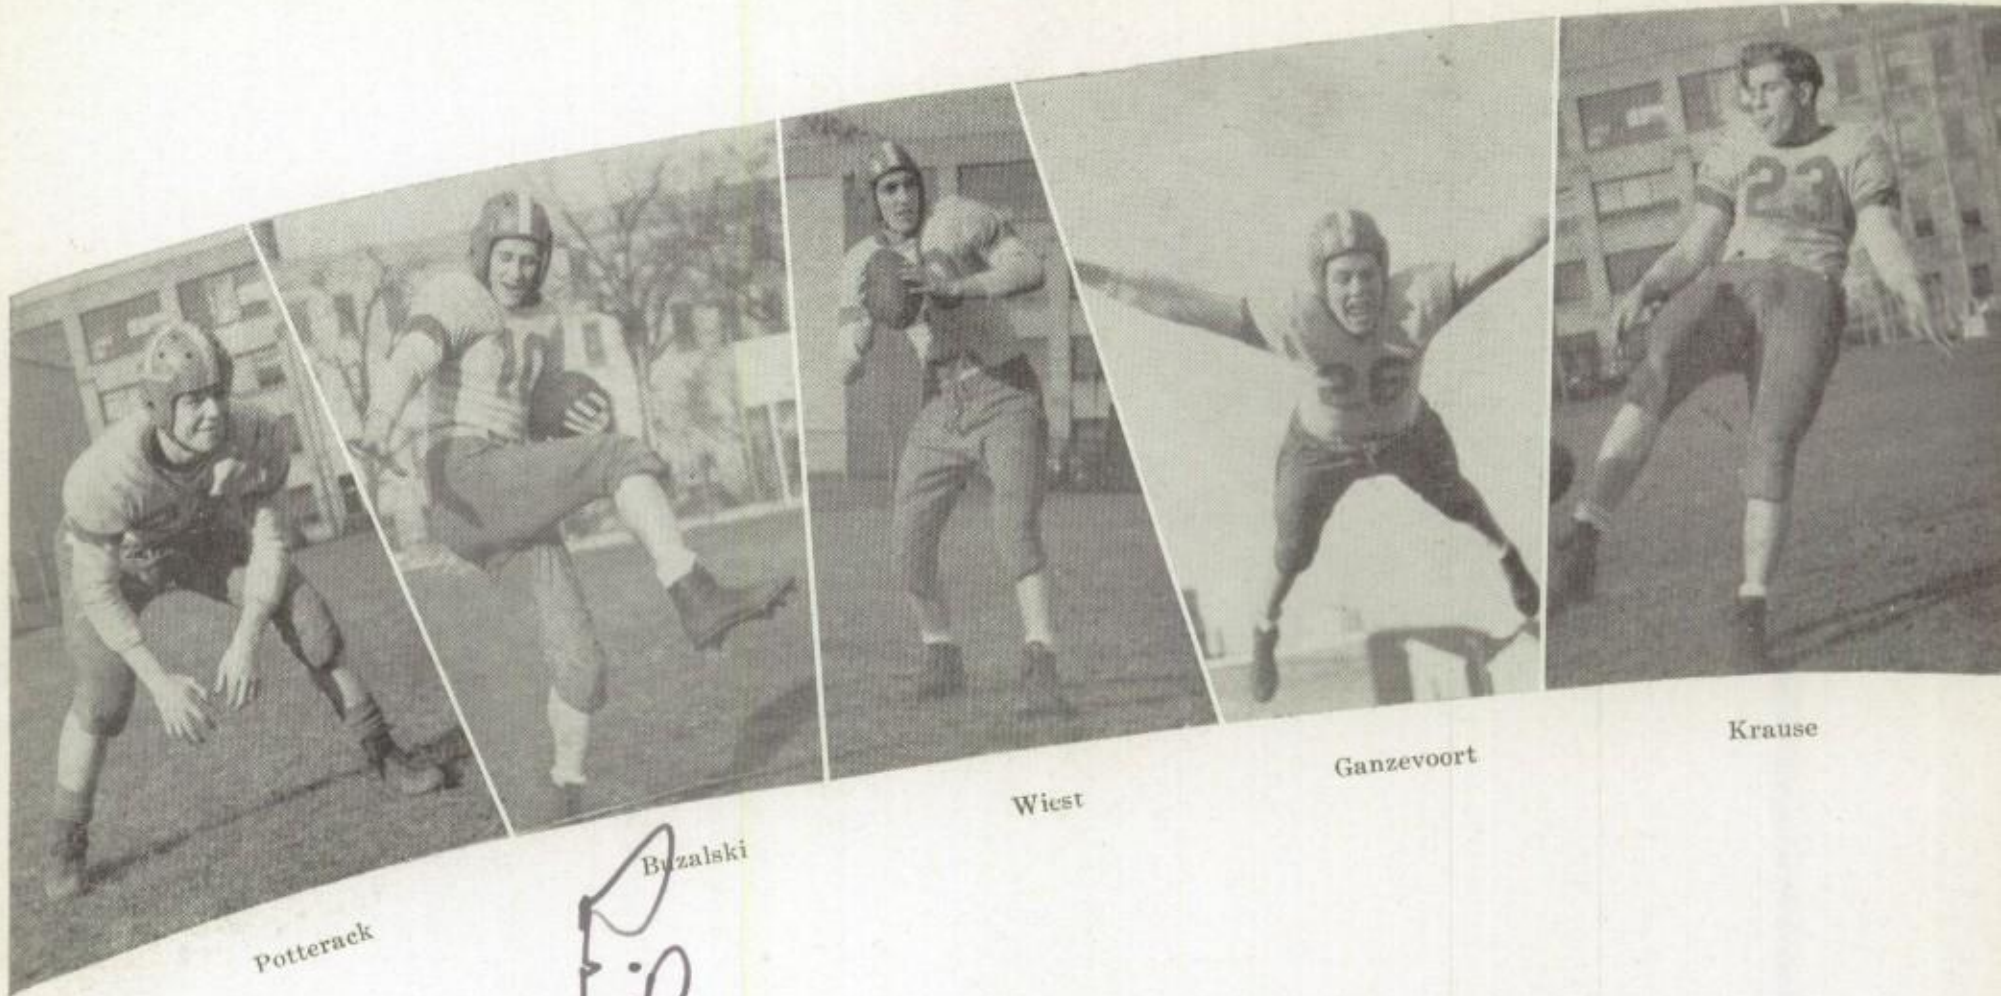

Take a strong school spirit, shown in loud yells, mix it with loyalty to team and you have the Unionites who will truly back their team "to stand against the best in the land."

Pigskin Pushers

With good material from the preceding year and the return of three men from the service, Coach Milo Sukup started the season off with a 172-pound line and a 160-pound backfield. Victory over Traverse City in the grid-season's opening game showed the Red Hawks in good condition. Led by the expert guidance of the coach and team spirit of Co-captains Don Wiest and Ed Shustha, the Hawks played a mean game of football. With every player in an important role, they bucked their opponents blow for blow.

Highlighting the season with various out-of-town games, the well-packed Greyhound bus excursions were good experiences for team and students. Slowly but surely topping city league opponents, allowing only a three and two-thirds point average scored against them, the Red Hawks, after a grueling game, tipped their hats to South on Thanksgiving Day with a final score of 6 to 0 to take a more-than-earned second place in the city league.

Reserves Top All

Booting the pigskin to the tune of Mr. Chamberlain's expert coaching, the Reserves soared over game after game this season to take without quarters the second-string city championship, showing the excellent team work, co-operation, and spirit that will make for top-flight regulars in the coming year's grid-season.

Trapp, Roh and Ryskamp, yell at new heights for the team.

Reserves wait for the bus to take them to another victory.

Tensely Krause, Van Allsburg, and Levanduski, reach for the ball.

Warren Krause (in above picture) was selected as All-City forward.

Cheers from the crowd and then the tip-off, with Wiest and Vermaire of Christian giving the game a successful start.

Towering to stardom, Captain Bob De Boer leads the team to victory.

Soaring Redhawks Yield Thrill-Packed Season

Although the Red Hawk basketball team ended in a tie for fifth place, they were a constant threat to other teams of the city. Many thrilling games were lost by a few points.

Coach "Doc" Ellingson's future prospects for a championship team are Van Allsburg, Cudney, Watson, Miller, Levanduski, Heeren, and Mac Lennan.

Unionites will greatly miss Captain Bob De Boer, Krause, Wiest, and Buzalski, who worked hard to achieve victory.

The highlight game of the season, and most exciting, was the Union-South clash, which was a nerve-racking overtime game. In spite of the tough battle put up by the Hawks, they lost by a few points. Another spine-tingling game was the Union-Creston game which ended in a victory for Union.

Krause stood in tenth place in total number of city league points with 77. Wiest was Union's second highest point-maker with 61 tallies. "Doc" Ellingson stated that Ganzevoort was sorily missed during the balance of the season. Bob De Boer was also commended for his outstanding defensive work.

"Doc" is looking forward to working with the promising group that is coming up from the ranks of the second team.

Speedy Reserves Capture Championship Crown

Full of action is Emil Moerlock as he adds excitement to the game.

With only determination to win, Vermaire of Christian's first team and Wiest of Union's first team play their hardest.

Through hard work the second team emerged victoriously this year with the championship.

First row: Vander Laan, Timmerman, Moerlock, Conklin, second row: Boonstra, Draugalis, Wagenka, Coach Henry, Dutkiewicz, Stehower, missing: T. Proctor, Stevens, J. Proctor, Smith, Chicky.

This year Union's second team played its hardest and won its way into the city championship. Both "Doc" Ellingson, the first team coach, and Mr. Henry, the second-team coach, agreed that it was the best second team Union has had in years.

The team won 10 city games out of a possible 12, thus putting it in first place with total points of 436 in the 12 games. The two remaining games were lost by a one-point decision.

Much of the team's success is attributed to Bill Slinger, the Reserves' champ, who tossed 133 points in the city games. At the South-Union game he made 20 of the 37 points. Three other assets to the team were Moerlock with 77 points; Timmerman, 64; and Conklin with his many clever passes.

Because of the second team's great skill and teamwork, "Doc" Ellingson put Slinger, Moerlock, Timmerman, Conklin, Vander Laan, and Stevens in the tournament games this season.

Pitching Strikes, Batting Runs Is Their Job

Co-captains Bob Doxey and Don "Buzz" Buzalski and Coach "Doc" Ellingson started the season right with three straight wins and one loss.

Union sluggers had a busy season last year as they swung their way through twelve games, winning six and losing six, to take second place.

The boys worked and played hard, always worrying the other teams.

The most exciting game of the season was with South when Union won 4 to 3. The outstanding players were Dale Ganzevoort, Bob Miller, Dave Haadsma, Mark Lahr.

This year with blue skies and balmy days again comes the familiar call of "play ball." From thirty-eight hopefuls, Coach "Doc" Ellingson began picking a fast and powerful baseball team.

With only six vets back this year, Coach Ellingson along with co-captains, Don Buzalski and Bob Doxey, moulded a team into good shape and team work.

Having started practice in late March indoors, when the springy days of April moved in "Doc" and the Hawks played ball at Valley Street Field.

Winning from South, Ottawa, and Christian, the team showed great promise by taking the lead in the city, but when they played Creston, last year's champs, they ended up by losing with a 6 to 5 score in a twelve-inning game.

One of the most exciting games of the season was the one with Creston, when the Red Hawks and the Polar Bears battled for twelve innings with Creston coming out on top by a thin margin of 5 to 6 score.

Reaching the end of an exciting season the Red Hawks are in fourth place in the city standings. Union has won seven games and lost five.

Ted Proctor batting a single against South, which helped Union win.

Bob Kupris running to home base to clinch Union's first victory.

Watching R. Phillips jump the low hurdles are: R. Timmerman, R. Van Dam, R. Pindar, B. Smith, P. Versluis, B. Failing, B. Clinger. Max Curtice and Chuck Cicelski are practicing to get themselves in condition for the half-mile in an effort to retain the city championship.

Fleet Hawks Win

Last year Union beat all schools in dual track meets to take the city championship. They also won from East Grand Rapids in a practice meet. Catholic and South meets were the most exciting because Union won them both by only a fraction of a point.

Some of the outstanding players were Duane Obermeyer, Bernard "Kish," Max Curtice, Charles Cicelski, Frank Zenk, Joe Daniels, Chester Kozal, and Bob Nelson.

Through the loss of Obermeyer they lost the Regional meet.

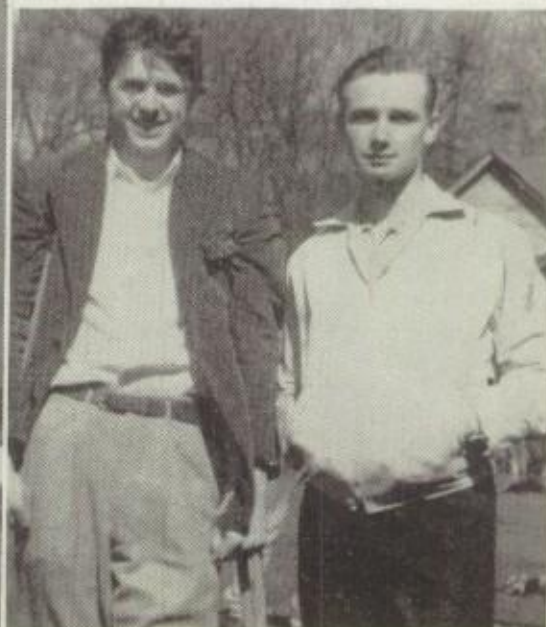

This year's cross-country team won the beautiful trophy now displayed in the show case on the first floor. The team consisted of Roger Van Dam, Phil Versluis, Robert Bush, Richard Pindar, and Charles Cicelski.

Only six vets are back this year: Max Curtice, Charles Cicelski, Bill Clinger, Al Manning, and the two co-captains, Chester Kozal and Bob Nelson, both unable to run this year.

Co-captains Bob Nelson and Chester Kozal, themselves unable to run because of ill health, have drilled long and hard with an inexperienced team, endeavoring to defend their city championship.

Bowling Hawks are Neyberg, Rexford, Hendricks, and Sperlick.
Listening to Coach Sukup are: R. Gessner, Wilson, Cook, Johnson, D. Gessner, and Stoke.

Balls Tell Tale

Bowling has made its way into the conversation of many Unionites; especially is this true of the boys who roll the balls at the Fanatorium once a week. They took many prizes at the all-city bowling banquet held at the Morton House, where Mr. Palmer, their adviser, presented the awards.

Golf at Union is not at present a major sport but it is making its way, with more and more Red Hawks putting those little balls around the green.

The team has a schedule of eight matches and one state match. Coach Sukup said that there were twelve boys out, but only six in the above picture.

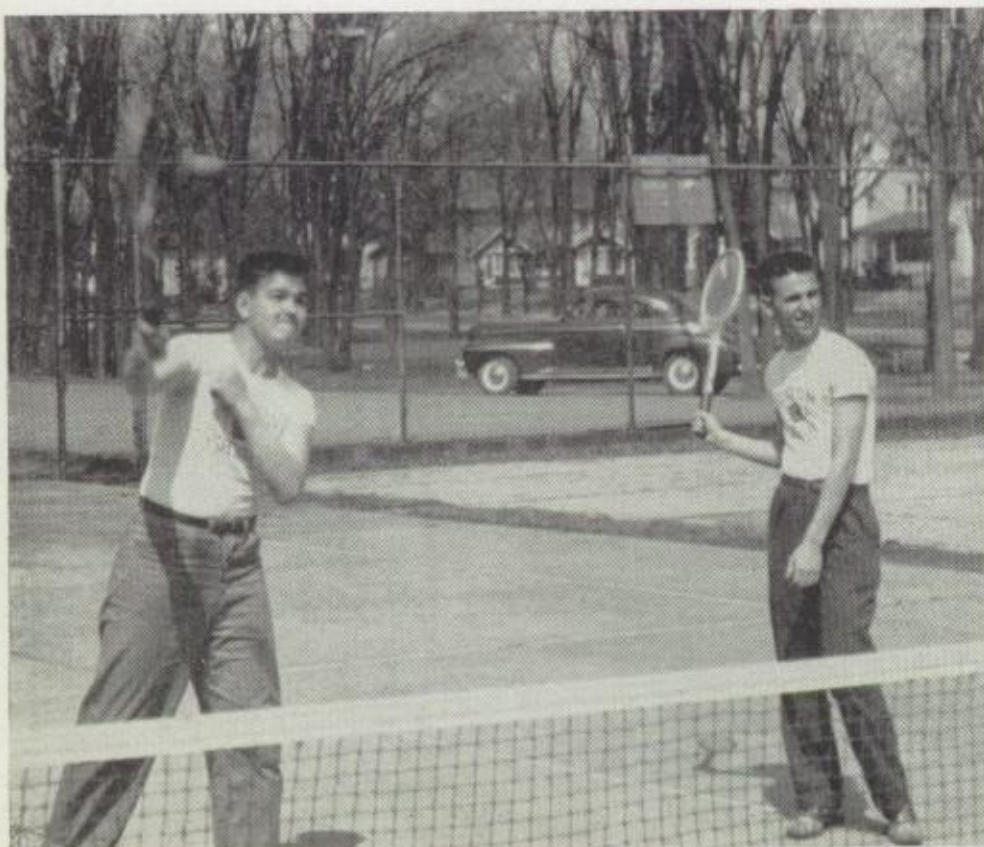

The twang of the ball against the racket lured many athletic-minded students out for tennis.

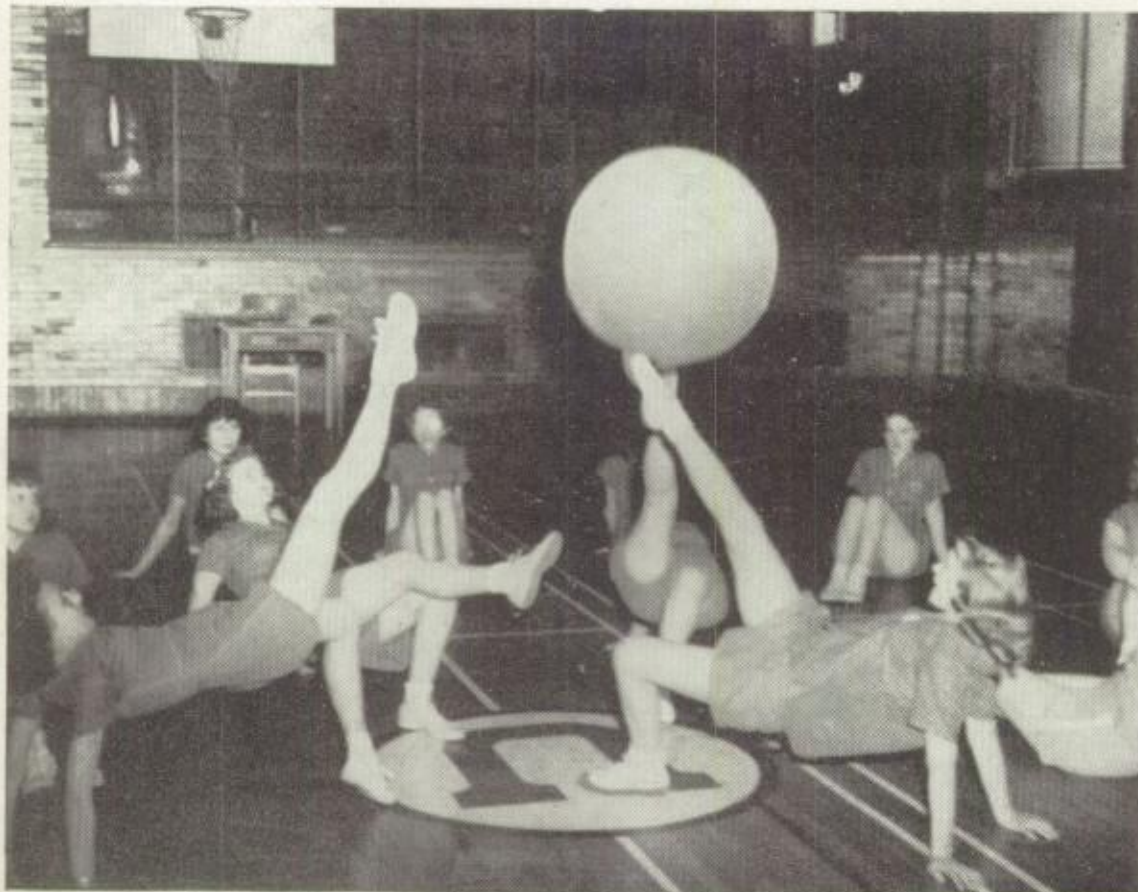

Last year Sidney Samrick was third in the city. He is on the team again this year.

Mr. Freeman, a Navy veteran, took over the coaching this year upon the resignation of Mr. Meyering, coach for many years.

Warner is hitting the ball while Samrick waits for his turn. Both are members of Union's tennis team under Coach Freeman.

Getting pointers from Coach Freeman are: first row: Meyers, Smeenge, Strain, Seamon, Unger; second row: Reynders, Hammond, Moriack, Samrick, and Warner.

Feminine Live Wires

Sports-minded girls happily take part in athletic activities on Wednesday night after school, rushing down to the gym to get into the various exciting games and earn their awards as well. Bowling, badminton, and ping-pong tournaments were played in great suspense as the competing contestants narrowed down to the three final champions. Another one of the many vigorous games played with great enthusiasm was volley ball.

Songleaders deserve high praise for their big part in building up the spirits of both team and fans. These girls looked charming in their new sweaters and letters.

Putting their best foot forward to send the cage ball zooming over their opponents' heads are B. Holst, B. Anscer, B. Mercer, and B. Moore. Cage ball was one of the many sports enjoyed after school on Wednesday.

Queens of the sports tournaments! Rating royal acclaim are Janet Hammer, Elaine Pierson, and Lucille Lange, winners in bowling, ping-pong, and badminton respectively. All won after hot competition in a round-robin tournament.

Always inspiring fans and team with their ever-present smiles are these peppy songleaders. Kneeling are Charmaine Chickey, Marilyn Zeeff, Alice Van Portfleet; standing, Marjory Wilder, Beverly Koolman, Barbara Upton, Dolores Sosnowski.

Thrive on Sports Appeal

To create an interest among girls in the sports and activities which add to health and physical efficiency is the double purpose of the Girls' U Club.

In G.U.C. there is no place for idlers and loafers. A girl must pull and work together with her teammates in order to chalk up victory for her team.

To bring out sportsmanship and build strong bodies are offered badminton and bowling, both in school and out. About 60 girls belong to two bowling leagues that play twice a week at the Fanatorium. These girls are members of the American High School Bowling Congress.

"Set 'um up" must have been the thought of Speth, Golubski, Wilson, Hammer, Flora, and Pierson, after-school bowling enthusiasts.

Standing: Phillips, Upton, Schneider, Havinga, Pierson, Mrs. Black; second row: Golubski, Hammer, Speth; third row: Wood, Flora, Phelps; bottom: Ackerman, Bailey.

Officer positions for the bowling league were staffed by Donna Girschel, secretary; Sally White, president; Lois Russell, secretary; Marilou Wilder, treasurer; and Pat Dressler, vice-president.

The birdie could be found whizzing back and forth across the net, batted by Schneider, Lange, Havinga, and Phelps on Mondays after school. Phillips holds the net.

Faculty

Captain of the school is Principal Charles A. Everest, who willingly lets Unionites step into the picture of school service, is always ready to promote cooperative systems which will benefit all, who remains exceedingly proud of his prize-package, the student-supervised study halls.

Supporting the captain is the faculty team, leading the Redhawk fans with specialized knowledge and wise understanding. Readily, instructors see the advantages in the trends of audio-visual education and in livelier student participation in classroom doings.

Without the student fans' backing the team and the captain, achievement of this scholastic goal would not be attained. Typical classes radiate the spirit of interest, cooperation, and democratic friendliness in their three-fold support of the principle, "For honest labor and for learning we stand."

FOR HONEST LABOR AND FOR LEARNING WE STAND

The Future Will Profit As Youth of Today

MRS. ESTHER KNIESLEY (upper left) shows two pupils of her geography class, Joanne Hansen and Richard Demp, material on the Great Lakes water system.

Never without a tall tale MR. EDWARD HENRY (center left) goes over economic theories without missing a point.

Round and round it goes; where it stops MR. OREN STIEHL (lower left) geography teacher, knows. As he propels the mimeographing machine, out pour bewildering questionnaires for his classes.

"Do as Franklin thought and you will be wise," advises MR. MAYNARD "Doc" ELLINGSON (lower center) drawing Dan De-Boer's attention to Franklin's views as they applied to an issue way back in 1857.

The asset of visual education is being demonstrated by MR. RICHARD MAROUSEK (lower right) history teacher, with Bob Trapp's assistance. "Seeing is believing" is the motto of this picture-minded instructor.

"Here it is," says MISS GERTRUDE YOUNG, charming civics instructor, as she points to Grand Rapids while Benzi, Heeren, Bell, and Paczkowski look on.

Balance Assets and Liabilities of the Past

When MR. KEITH HOUSTON (right) gets going on Czechoslovakia or Russia, there's sure to be a lively debate!

Taking roll is MR. EDMUND GALANT (center left) new history teacher. To know his dates and keep them in the minds of his students is a tremendous task.

With a pleasing smile and voice, MISS LUCILLE DUNN (lower left) is pointing out to her pupils the country which her world history class is discussing.

Taking care of both basketball and football money and tickets is one of the tasks with which MR. ELMER LISKY (center left) athletic manager, contends, besides teaching his civics classes.

Business mathematics, Civics II, American History VII and VIII — this is a day's work for MR. H. J. GLOCKZIN (lower right). He has charge of a junior high home room and advises the freshmen class.

Instructing at Junior College in the afternoon makes a double day for MISS ZUR MUEHLEN (center right) friendly helper and top notch history teacher at Union

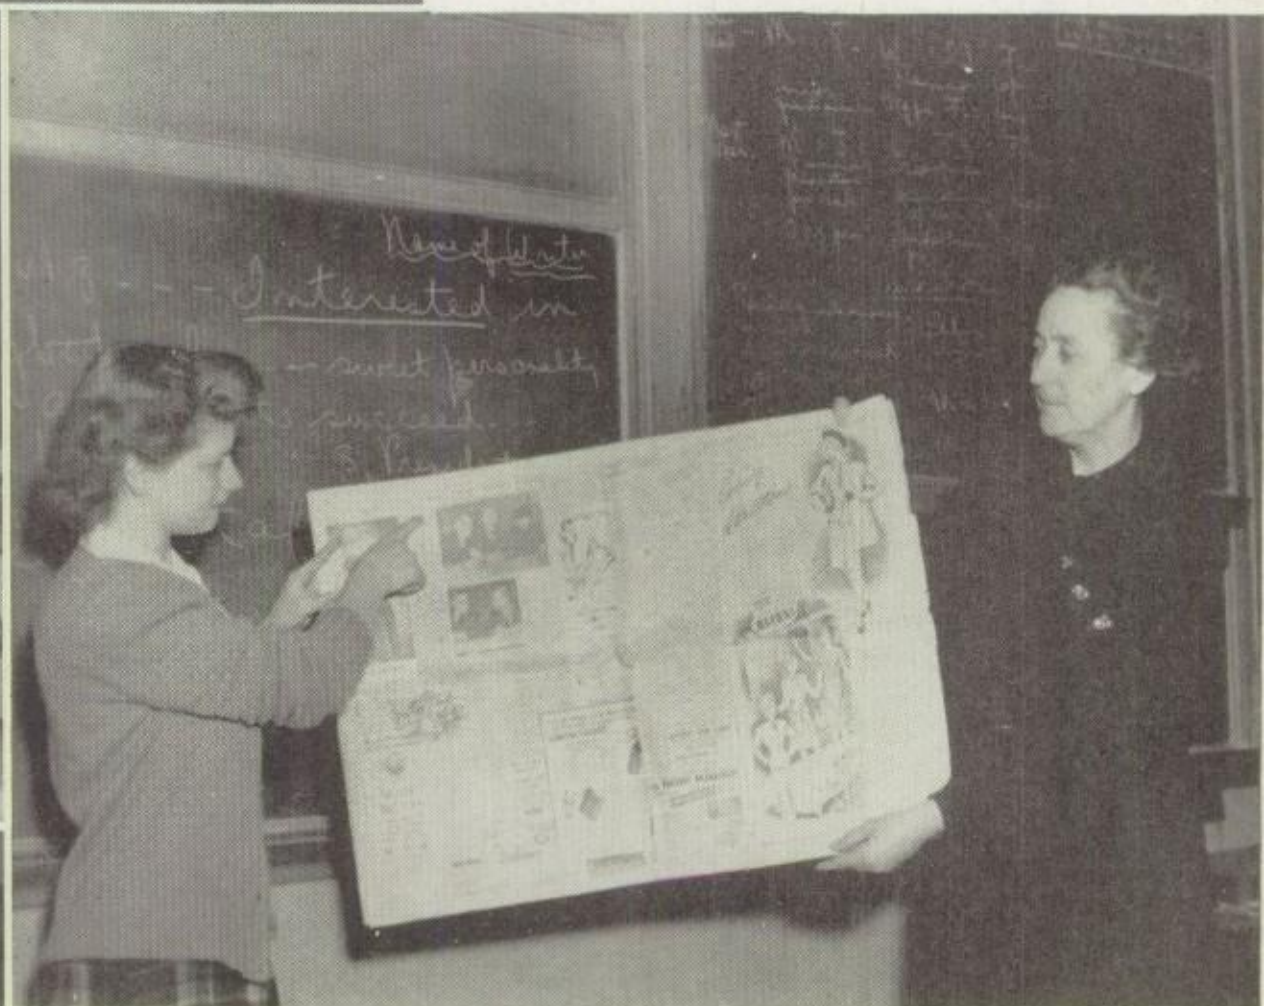

They Stimulat

Well-liked MISS VALORA QUINLAN (upper left) is marking papers in her usual efficient way. Her specialty is starting of younger students on the right foot at Union.

MISS FLORENCE TROY (upper right) charming, quiet, and helpful, is about to read a story to the class. Since coming to Union, Miss Troy has inspired Unionites to great enthusiasm about English classes.

"You must not be afraid to open your mouth and talk with your tongue." This is the helpful advice of MR. STANLEY ALBERS (left) public-speaking teacher, as he articulates for his speech and debating students.

Literary Know

Energy plus describes MRS. BEULAH KROMER (left) whose organization always keeps her classes running smoothly. Students keep on their toes helping check classroom work and giving oral recitations.

Always searching for improved modern teaching methods, MISS MARIAN WRAY is giving a spelling exercise taken from Coronet Magazine to some ninth graders, Block, Bush, and Dalcott.

MR. LEONARD MEYERING (center right) is seen placing a dramatic recording of the famous classic, "Silas Marner," on the phonograph. "Audiovisual study discs," he says, "furnish a valuable new teaching technique."

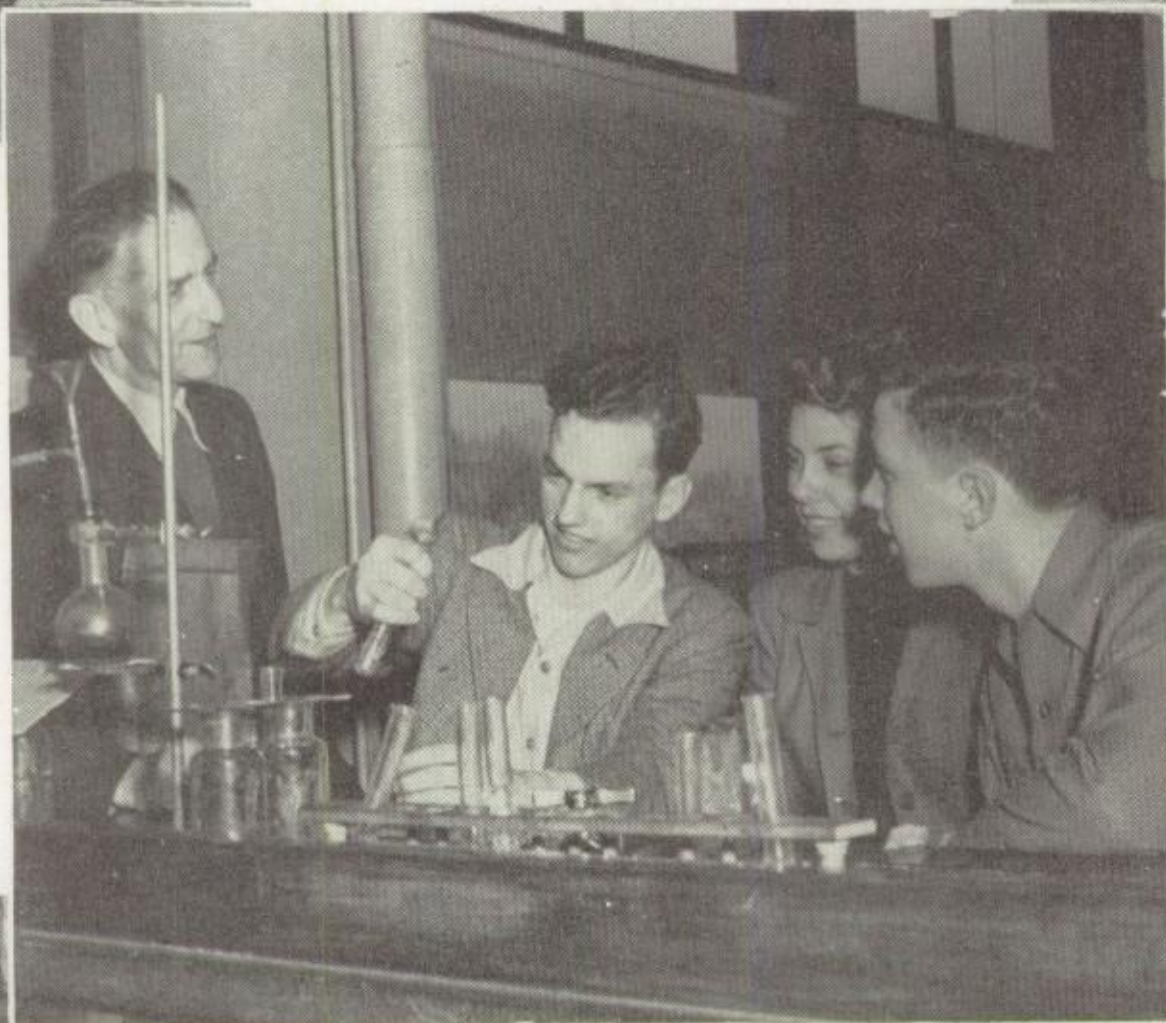

To prepare his class for a movie they are to attend, MR. EMERY FREEMAN (lower right) reads selections from "David Copperfield" to his English class.

Future Atom Smashers Probe Scientific Realms

Amid test tubes which represent the activity series of metals MR. CLAYTON BAZUIN (right) calmly checks his papers. Consistently pleasant, Mr. Bazuin is noted for his ability to make chemistry thrilling.

MR. JOHN HESS (left) who always looks serious even when telling a joke, takes time to answer Sally Yates' question about the cells of plants and animals, an especially interesting biology topic.

What happens when sulfur dioxide passes through potassium permanganate? Solving the mystery is Ludwick, while Mr. Bazuin, Damson, and Lammers look on interestedly.

Barbara Medd and Harry Fuller inspect an octopus that has been preserved in alcohol during MR. LOWELL PALMER'S Biology 11 class (left). Barbara and Harry are Mr. Palmer's star pupils.

"What is it?" MR. DEXTER SMELKER (right) with the aid of Hankerson is putting an unidentified animal on display. The next day he will reveal its identity.

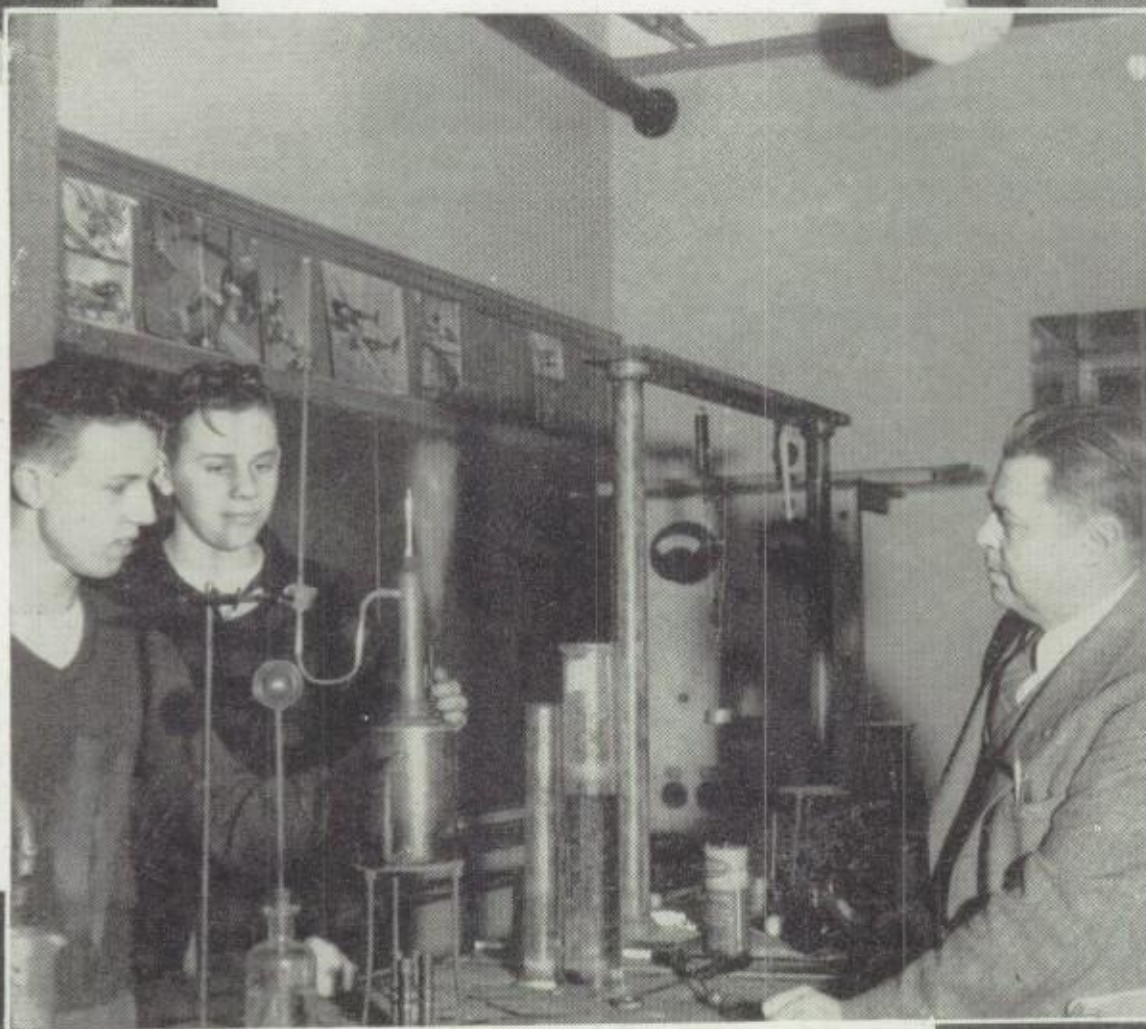

Numerical Experts Conquer Difficult Figures

Ah! The quiet solitude of study hall! Kay Pierson and Elizabeth Young (left) are busy doing their schoolwork under the new system of student supervised study halls.

Miss Elizabeth Dockeray (right), math lover, whose day consists of guiding juniors and seniors in her home room, and of assisting students like Barbara Zeeff in arithmetic.

Testing the influence of pressure upon the boiling point of water proves an interesting experiment when conducted by Mr. Fred Voss (above). Assisting him are Bricker and Rose.

Students agree that learning mathematics, geometry, and algebra is not hard when taught by Miss Dorothy Renzema (left) who will soon receive her master's degree from the U. of M.

Montana hail and snow mingled with the Law of Charles and gravity enliven physics and math classes of Mr. Fred Voss (right). Mr. Voss also guides the senior class through many storms.

Unionites Unravel Mysteries in Mathematics

Beginning a school day, MISS MARIE McDERMOTT (left) is getting bulletins and absence slips from her box. Miss McDermott also acts as freshman class adviser and secretary of the Community Council.

MISS NELLE ATWOOD (right), chairman of the mathematics department, is carefully posting the work of her students on the bulletin board for others to appreciate. Miss Atwood is also sophomore class adviser.

Sent to the board to work problems in division are these seventh graders, Lazaski, Scholten and Klinge. Mr. Lair (above) stands by to help them.

Busy as a bee, MR. FLOYD EARLY (left) still finds time to smile. Besides expertly teaching math, he acts as adviser of the junior class and senior counsellors.

MR. FORREST LAIR (right), with arithmetic book in hand, carefully explains the science of numbers to clarify the perplexed minds of would-be Einsteins in his math class.

Unionites Jot Shorthand and Tap on the Keys

Leaving on trips to the bank to deposit school money has been one of the duties of MR. FORREST BARR (upper left) as school treasurer, in addition to teaching several typing classes.

MRS. BEATRICE MARBLE (upper right) teaches at Union for only one period. She is valued by students for her friendly helpfulness in getting jobs for students of this course in down-town stores.

"Always there to help" is MISS HAZEL WEST (lower left) office machines teacher. Cecilia Strobejko is mimeographing under her instruction. Miss West helps with occupational training work at Union.

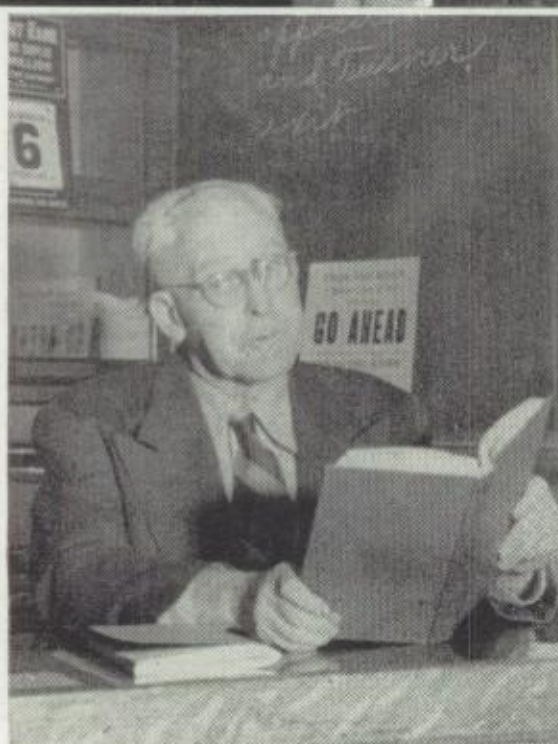

F. E. Barr

Teaching with an open mind and sincere heart, MISS MARTHA KOSANKE (left) acquaints pupil in her classes with problems that will confront them later.

An able commercial bookkeeping teacher is MR. ARTHUR AVERY (right) who teaches five of these classes in a day. Business leader of the faculty, Mr. Avery is always friendly to all.

"Swing and Sway" Mr. Forrest Barr's way, as you type to the rhythm of the record he has just put into playing order on the phonograph. This is one way to learn while your brain relaxes. As each beat comes along, the fingers move and touch and go in a hurried pace.

Work, Laugh, Play Is Typical Language Day

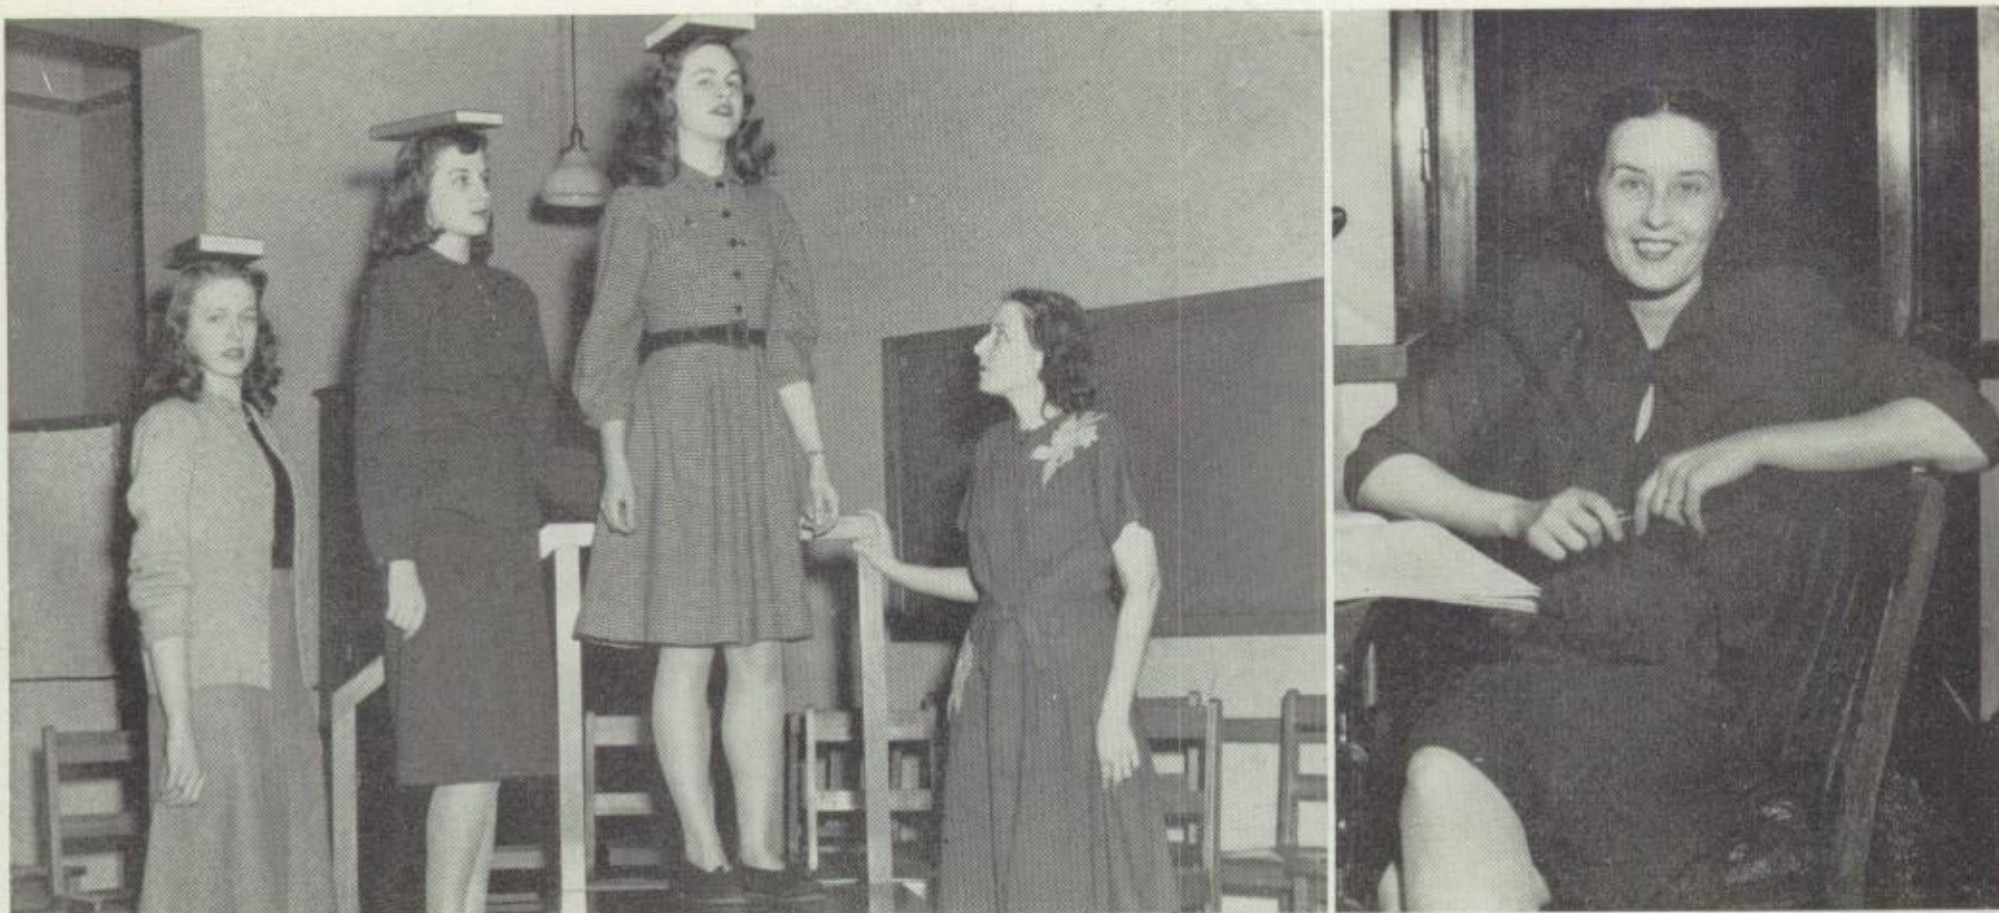

MISS DOROTHY BLAKE (upper left) points to the Temple of Juno, one of the pieces of Roman architecture studied in her Latin classes. The temple also concerns the study of Roman gods.

Translating Caesar's capture of Gaul from Latin into English are these "durus laborans" (upper right), Visser, Silvers, Bouwkamp, and Bower.

"We work, we study, we play," sing these Spanish students (lower left). Placing a record of a Spanish song on the phonograph are Smith, Cook, Peterson and Haadsma.

Gay Homemakers Plan for Modern Tomorrow

MRS. JENNIE MARTIN (upper right) home economics teacher, brings new and interesting ideas to personal regimen.

Counting money from cafeteria sales is MISS

ROSE SCHAUER (lower left), also director at Ottawa.

MISS INA DENNIS (below center) helps Marilyn Spartling as she lays a pattern on her material.

MISS MAUDE TRAUT (lower right) proudly displays a girl's dress made by a student in child-development class.

Humming Machines

MR. DEE A. REYNDERS (upper left) one of Union's favorite teachers and usually called "Pop" by the students, patiently explains to John Kaatz and Howard Van Gilst a difficult problem in architectural drawing.

"Could you print this poster for me?" has been asked with a pleading eye by many a student and teacher of MR. GEORGE GUY (center left), printing instructor, who checks proofs here for Bob Virkstis and prints signs, tickets, and papers for all who ask him.

Under the skillful supervision of MR. PAUL "Markie" MARCKWARDT (below) teacher of wood shop, the eager wood carvers, Pete Nowicki and Bernie Hanson, pause to gaze upon a half-finished miniature cathedral, two-year project of the department.

Sing of Skill

MR. ERNEST VREELAND (upper right), known as "Ernie" to the boys in auto shop, is caught in a typical moment as he teaches Lumpkin and Brady how to assemble a carburetor.

"This is the way to do it," explains MR. PAUL MARCKWARDT (center) to Tom Neper. As sponsor of the cheerleaders for years, "Markie" is always ready to give a helping hand.

MR. ROY CHAMBERLAIN (lower left) gives his usual individual instruction to Dick Ambrose and John Dykgraaf, as he tests a motor which they have re-assembled for a ground circuit.

MR. CHARLES RAVERS (lower right), genial machine shop teacher, points out to James Russell the correct method of fitting the air gauge tightly on the tank of a spray gun.

Special Courses

MR. THEODORE FRYFOGLE (upper left), called "FRY" by his band and orchestra members, contributes much to the vigor of the instrumental music department. Here he leads the band in a moving number with characteristically humorous flourish.

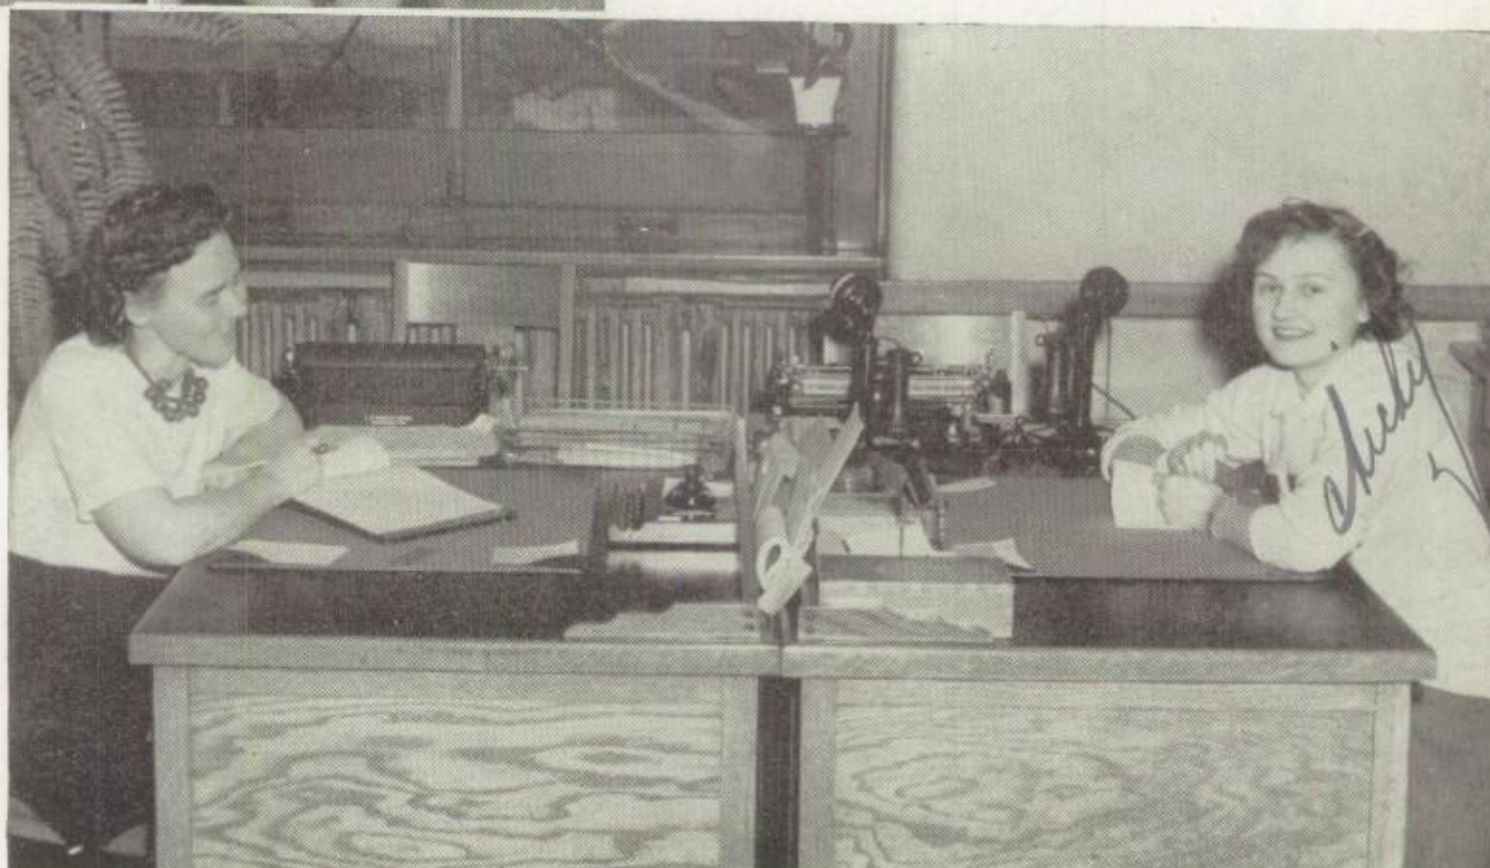

MISS FLORENCE BEST (center left) is pointing out to Russell Chistopher a diagram of the motions a director goes through in the course of one piece of music. She directed the mixed chorus at the Bach Festival this year.

MISS HARRIETT SCHRODER (lower left) is dictating a civics outline to Kent Bradfield who is typing it on a large-print typewriter. Miss Schroeder, besides helping students in sight saving classes by reading to them, also is advisor of the Senior Y-Teens.

The necessity of individual teaching and of oral presentation is greater in the sight-saving class than in regular classes. MISS DOROTHY JANE FARR (left) is reading and explaining the principles of a history lesson to Mary Lou Hilliker.

A true friend to students and teachers both is MISS HELEN OLSON, office clerk (left) who can always find time to help anyone and is never without a smile. She capably manages Union's office, with the help this last semester of Charmaine Chicky (right), mid-termer.

Spice Learning

MR. MILO SUKUP (upper left), director of boys' physical education and football coach, poses proudly by the pictures of the football eleven.

MRS. MARGARET "Macky" BLACK (upper right), girls' physical education teacher, is inspecting one of Arlene Ackerman's costumes for "The Frollies", a project she has so successfully directed many years.

SGT. ROBERT SANDERS (center), instructor for the R.O.T.C. at Union for the second year, is grading test papers on a movie about first aid, previously shown to all companies.

Through the friendly guidance of MISS ESTHER NOBLE (center right) the library has become a 'capital' of knowledge. Using the Reader's Guide, she assists Rose Lucas in locating articles for a vocational report.

Helpful MISS EULALIN WILLIAMS (lower left) answers a question for Gwendolyn Ketchen about the scenery in her picture as Pat Hilton works nearby on her drawing.

Express yourself! That is the theme of MISS EDITH BARKER'S (lower right) art classes. In the group at center Van Malsen, Smith, Gigowski, Shultz, Aspgren, Kurti, Skuth, Balcer and Mesler are seeking self expression in oils, water colors, clay, and various abstractions. Miss Barker is supervising the class with an appraising eye.

Organization

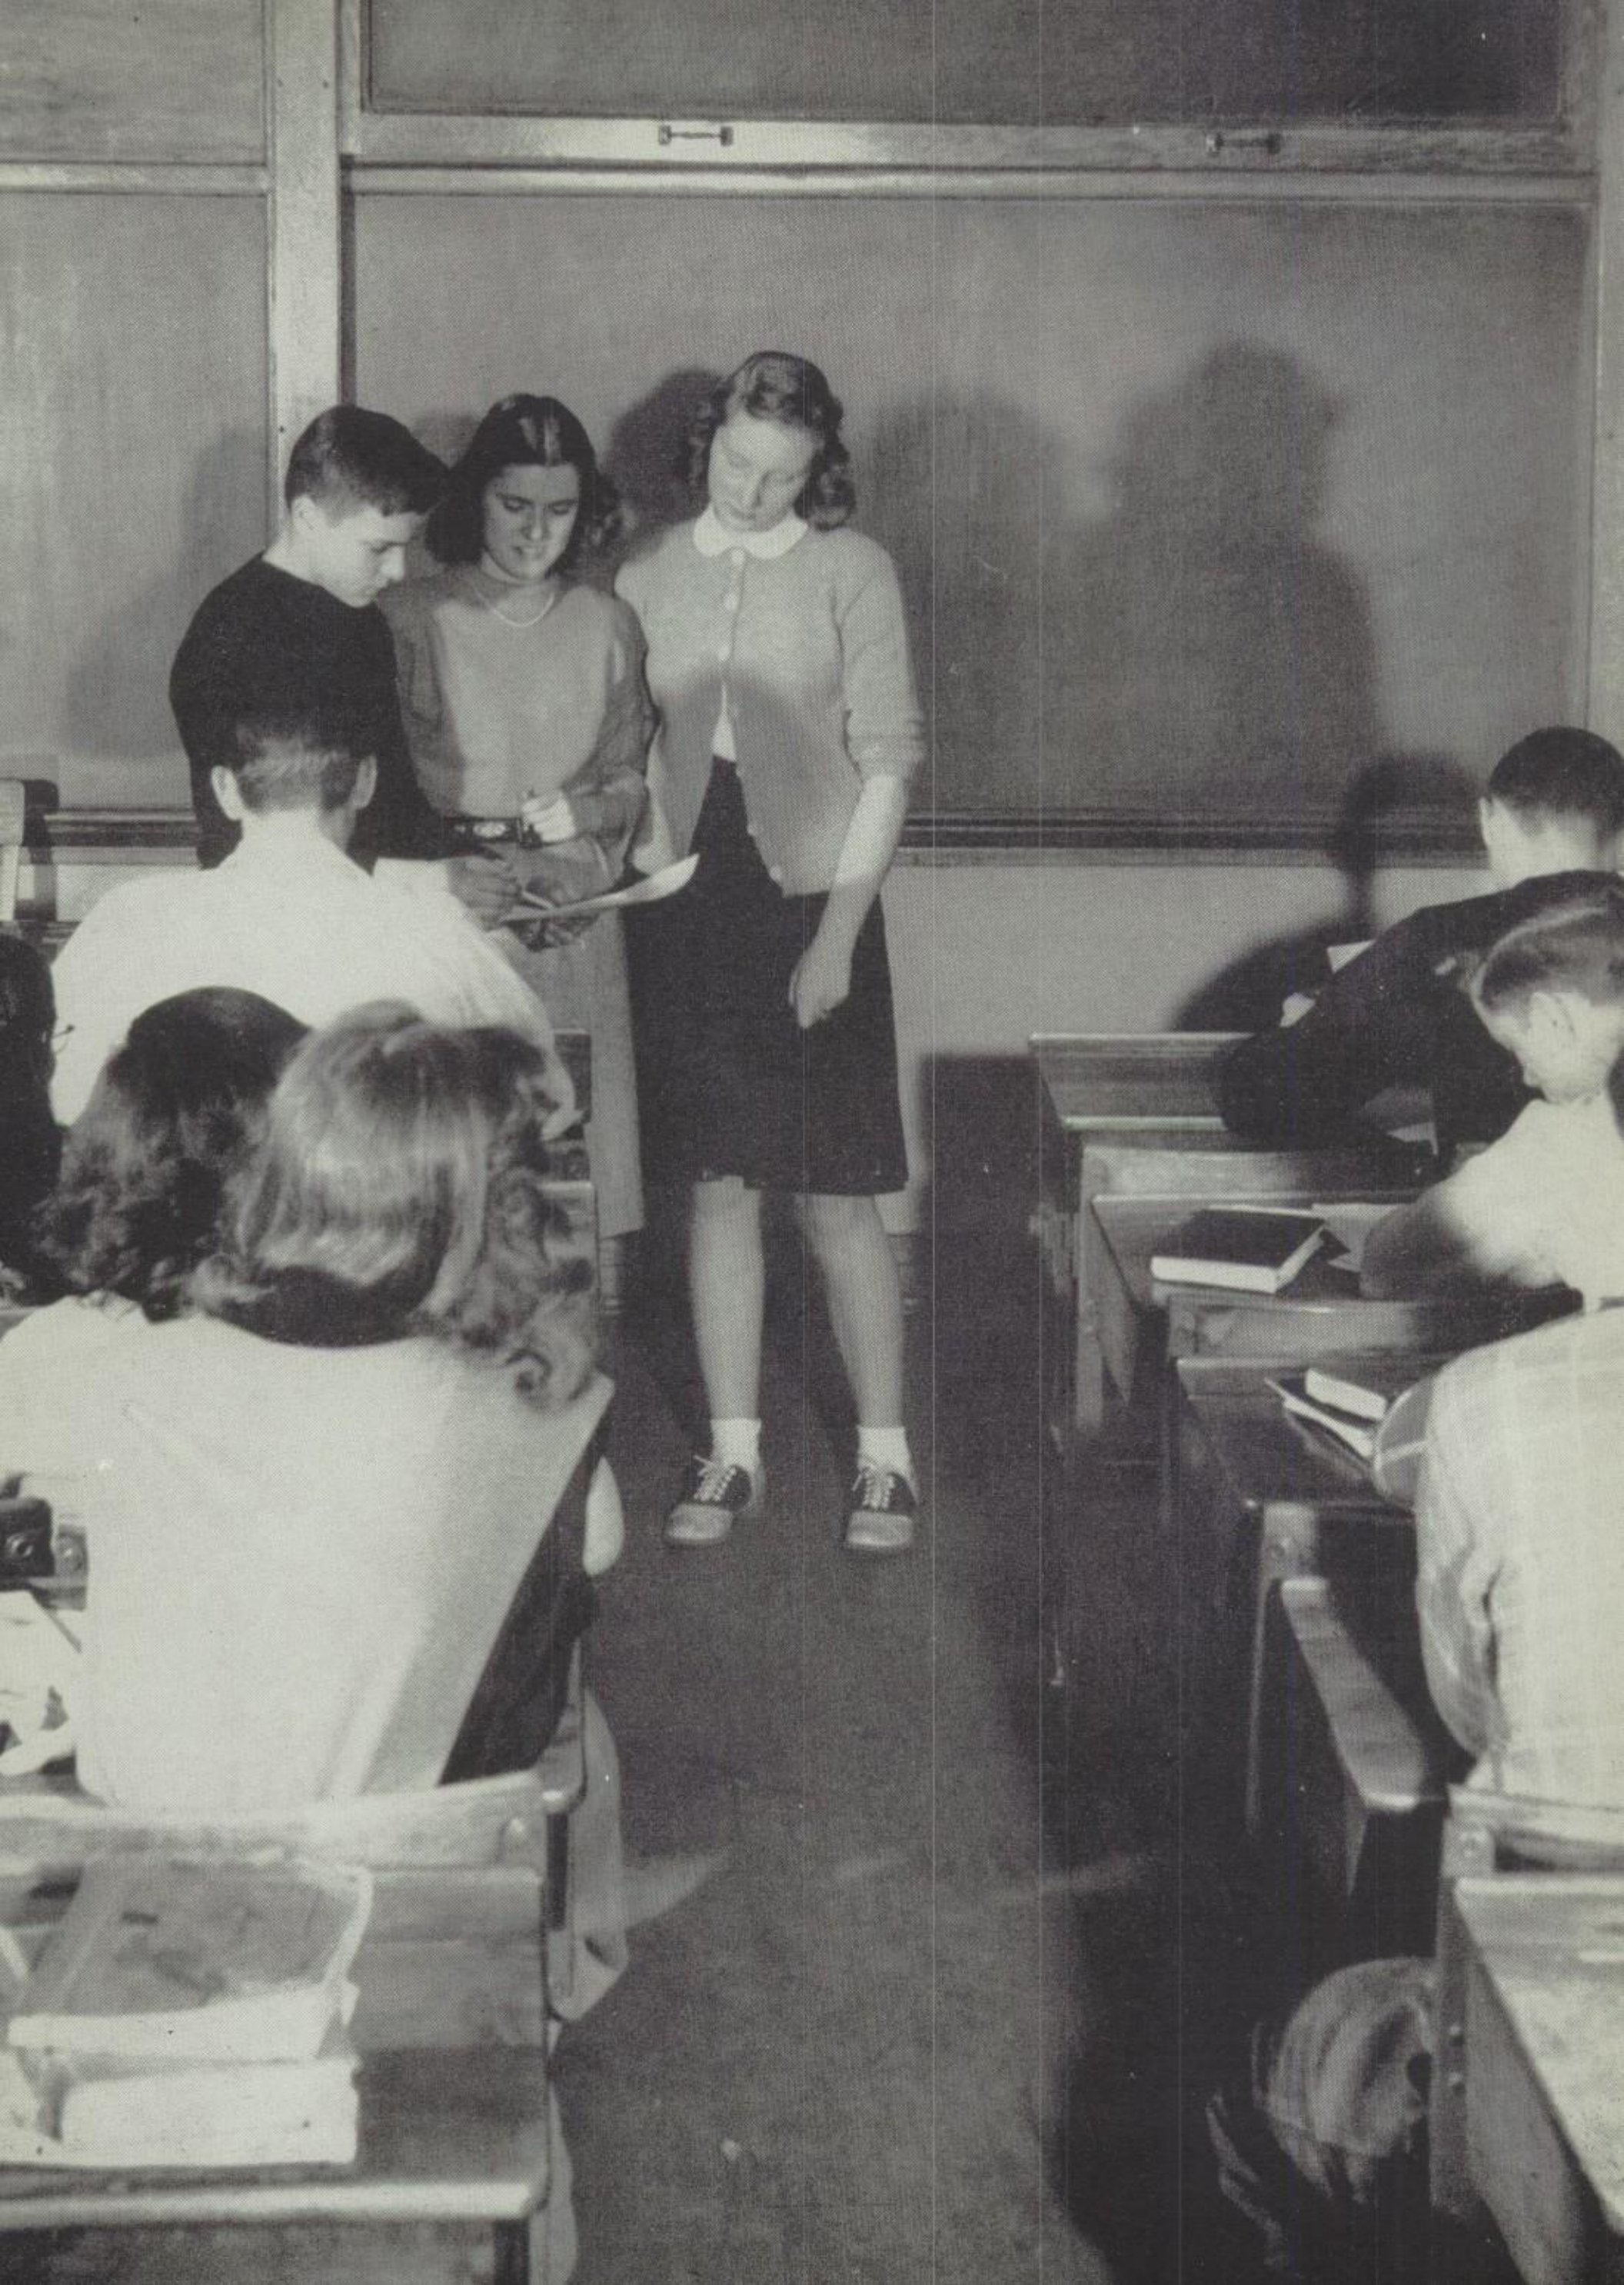

"Silence is golden" is the motto of the study halls now supervised by Unionites themselves. Checking for the physical condition of the room, individual attitude toward study, and general atmosphere of the room are Tom Simpson and Sally Wiersma while assistant study hall chairman, Beverly Fik, looks on. This is just one of the new phases of student government that has been developed this past year.

Pledging their "heart and hand", Unionites went all out for activities. School service, publication work, sponsoring assemblies, and taking charge of campaigns were all in a day's work. Minds, bodies, and morals were strengthened by these activities. Not only did these eager-beavers do useful things but they had a hilarious time doing them.

Meritorious performance of extra-curricular activities received service recognition when the Dillingham Cups, Gold Keys, and numerous other awards were conferred upon outstanding leaders.

WE PLEDGE OUR HEART AND HAND

Star Seniors Shine

The Dillingham Cup was awarded to Ruth Apkarian and Abner Ragins. Ruth, an energetic worker, participated in such activities as school service, publications, senior counselling, the senior play, and the Student Council as its president. Popular "Ab", science and math genius, lead the senior class as president, acted as Senior Counsellor, and took part in the senior play and debate team battles.

Beaming with pride are the winners of the Dillingham cups, Ruth Apkarian and Abner Ragins, as they look admiringly at the shining symbol of their achievements.

Union received more than its share of recognition when Pat Dressler, chosen its D.A.R. winner, won the State D.A.R. award for her superior citizenship. Richard Anderson acquired the national science award given by the Bausch Lomb Company and the University of Michigan Alumni Scholarship. Shirley Weeber, who displayed outstanding ability in language, was given the Marion L. Jennings Award, and Marvin Heemstra, the Albert Jennings Scholarship Award. The Marion L. Jennings Fund was started by a group of citizens as a tribute to Miss Jennings, a former language teacher for forty-two years. The award is a gift of money presented for outstanding work in foreign languages. The Albert Jennings Fund was started by a group of faculty and alumni in honor of Mr. Jennings, a former principal at Union for fourteen years.

Gold Keys were awarded to twenty-three students this year for their activity work during the past three years. Those eligible must be leaders in different field of endeavor, such as school service, publications, clubs and organizations, music, art, physical education, and special projects.

Walking into a bright future are Marvin Heemstra and Shirley Weeber, Jennings award winners; Pat Dressler, D.A.R. winner; and Richard Anderson, science genius.

Union Leads the Way

"Permit, please," "No running in the halls," are the firm warnings of the service staff members. These workers, anxious to share the responsibility of school service, are recommended by the homeroom teacher and one teacher with whom they have a subject. To maintain order in the halls is the main objective of this organization.

Energetic chairmen of the service for the hours of the day are: standing: Wiersma, Mac Lennan, Snellink, Speth, Hubbel; seated: Lapinski, Haan, Shippy; missing: Coleman.

With a firm command for quiet and a rating sheet for a guide, the student-supervised study halls daily swing into action. This study hall project, the first to be successfully carried out in any of the city schools, functions without the assistance of teachers. Pupils keep the order necessary for study. Hourly chairmen for the six study halls head this activity assisted by the raters and the roll takers. The study halls are rated on four points; individual seats, individual study, quiet for study, and observance of permit regulations. A report is submitted to the office each week by the chairmen.

Union had the only local debate team participating in contests this year. Under the skillful guidance of Mr. Stanley Albers, the squad won a wall plaque. The question for discussion was the proposal to provide the citizens of the United States with free medical care at public expense, which the squad contended was a needed though drastic change of the future. Among the high schools that they debated were Lansing Eastern, Wyoming Park, Battle Creek, and Holland.

Making it their responsibility to see that everything runs smoothly are: standing: Trapp, Zoet, Havinga, Van Setters, Van Allsburg, Verschoor; seated: Dressler, Upton, Apkarian, Sosnowski, Staskiewicz.

Debators Abner Ragins, Pat Dressler, and Otto Riesman are rehearsing some of the witty points of their arguments with Mr. Albers.

Captains Take Command

Providing new white coats for the Boys' Glee, sponsoring the senior banquet, and helping with "The Frolics" were among the major projects this year of the Community Council, composed of representatives of businessmen, the P.T.A., alumni, and classes. Officers (left to right) are: Miss Marie McDermott, secretary; Principal Charles Everest, vice-president; Mr. John Whitaker, president; Mr. Carl Schneider, treasurer.

"Information, please!" will never be demanded by Unionites as long as Mr. Palmer and his able Athletic Council helpers display posters and charts and sponsor assemblies. Officers (left to right) are: Don Buzalski, president; Ralph Ludwig, secretary; Donn Bouwkamp, assembly planner; Mr. Palmer, adviser.

"More junior high activities!" cried this year's Senior Counsellors, advised by Mr. Early, as they took charge of the seventh graders. Informing them of rules and regulations, the counsellors acquainted the newcomers with the school and made them feel at ease in their new surroundings.

The sale of paddle pops and soft drinks at the games, taken over the last semester by the Varsity Club, proved successful. Listening attentively for instructions are Doxey, secretary; Burkholder, president; Buzalski, treasurer; and Jacobs as Wiest, vice-president, who explains the schedule for the sale at the next game.

Sponsoring out-of-town excursions and carrying on student-supervised study halls are some of the many accomplishments of this active Student Council. First row: Moore, Webber, Apkarian, Ragins, Cicelski, Haadsma, Breining, Kindig, Kurkjian; second row: Mollo, Peterson, Hankinson, Girschle, De Witt, Philips, Haan, Brown, Noneman, Jones, Wood; third row: Dressler, Trapp, Zoet, Anderson, Staskiewicz, Upton, Zuelke, Amante, Cook; fourth row: Roh, Van Otteren, Reisman, Barszewski, Berry, Boryce, Schneider, Van Setters, Curtice, Dolsey, Wright, Walters.

Youthful Instrumentalists Prove Promising

Gay, rollicking woodwinds really shone as their owners set them at a fast pace for the "Flight of the Bumble Bee" which drew interested listeners to "The Frolics" and the Spring Concert. The lads behind the licorice sticks are (left to right): Charles Mindel, Thomas Strang, Irving Mindel, and Stuart Noordyk. These boys have proved themselves outstanding in the field of instrumental music by contributing both to the success of the band and orchestra and by doing a little harmonizing on their own. Among their many activities was playing at P.T.A. meetings, Oakleigh School, and the Grand Rapids Music Teachers Association.

Playing Beethoven's "First Symphony" in the band and orchestra festival held at South High as well as the annual spring concert was one of the highlights for this year's orchestra. Twisting the spotlight over the season's activities, Unionites find many outstanding musicians such as Ed Perschbacher, Bill Barkley, Carl Johnson, Marian Modders, Tom Strang, and Charles Mindel who participated in the state solo festival at Ann Arbor. The string ensemble, a small group of players, entertained at various functions throughout the year. Carl Johnson won honor by being chosen guest artist of the Grand Rapids Symphony Orchestra at the young peoples' concert while Dan Kovats, who recently completed String Quartet OP. 1 No. 1, would, in Mr. Fryfogle's opinion, rate an award in any young composers contest. The orchestra has, this season, maintained the Union standard of really fine concert music.

Noordyk, Barkley, Ratajczak, I. Mindel, Romine, Hammond, Berkov, Coykendell, Kovats, Finstrom, R. Johnson, Perschbacher, Schoenfeld, Frey, Mullian, Pawloski, Wiest, Van Dyk, Havelhorst; center front: Mr. Fryfogle; missing: Peterson, Sumner.

Band Leads Musical Parade of Year's Events

"To thee we pledge our heart and hand" might well be the theme of the band as they parade out of an exciting year of parades, football games and excursions, assemblies, concerts, and festivals. The spirits of crowds on the bleachers and of Red Hawks on the field at the football games were raised with their snappy loyalty song. Countless pep meetings and assemblies were staged with the support of the band. They ably accompanied the team on out-of-town jaunts to Detroit and Muskegon Heights. Again making use of their previous idea, an R.O.T.C. band took part in the Armistice Day Parade and R.O.T.C. Field Day. The gay, usual brightness of the red coats stood out in the Santa Claus, Memorial, and Flag Day parades, while the spring concert benefited by their expert handling of festival and concert numbers.

Representing Union in the Schubert Club Contest were Don MacGregor, Elizabeth Ann Lockhart, and Fred Collins. By means of this contest, held annually at the civic auditorium, two in first place receive scholarships to MSC and two placing second receive war bonds. The event boasts entries from all parts of Michigan.

"Young-Man-with-the-Violin" Carl Johnson has done it again. Bringing more praise and credit to himself with his music, he brilliantly played the First Movement of the Mendelssohn Concerto for the Young Peoples' Concert at the civic auditorium in March. Carl was also a soloist at Ann Arbor.

Osbeck, Kindig, Cummings, Unger, Gessner, Strang, Schipper, Cudney, I. Mindel, Brown, Leith, Carlson, Hanson, Peterson, Kosten, C. Mindel, J. Johnson, Noordyk, Cavanaugh, VanWestenburg, D. Belke, Kovats, Maher, Kunst, Macomber, Perschbacher, Schoenfeldt, Randal, Gillette, Pawloski, Havelhorst, Dantuma, Modders, Tweddale, Wilkinson, Wallington, Elzinga, J. Belke, Brown, Beeman, Mayo, Kubiack, Burkhart, Rothley, Kuhn, Cole, Silver, Samrick, Schaafsma, Barkley, Hammond, R. Johnson.

First row: Harkens, Flora, Miller, Gessner, Anderson, Bostwick, Austin, Littel, Williams, Bowen, Skipitis, Maeshall; second row: Heereen, Heyman, Myszka, Laban, Kalawart, Gigowski, Larsen, Chernoby, Curtice, Ramsey, Collins, Cebelak, Bonczkowski, Doolittle, Blum; third row:

Hilton, McConnell, Edison, Miller, Bauer, Brown, Krause, Christoph Mac Gregor, Spencer, Lapinski, Hansen, Rigiero; fourth row: Keele, Wiest, Spratling, Beuer, Haan, Mervinne, Menning, Vander Hyde, Young, Vander Kopple, Simonsen, Rugg, Renington, Kurchen.

Songbirds Sing Blithely at the Bach Festival

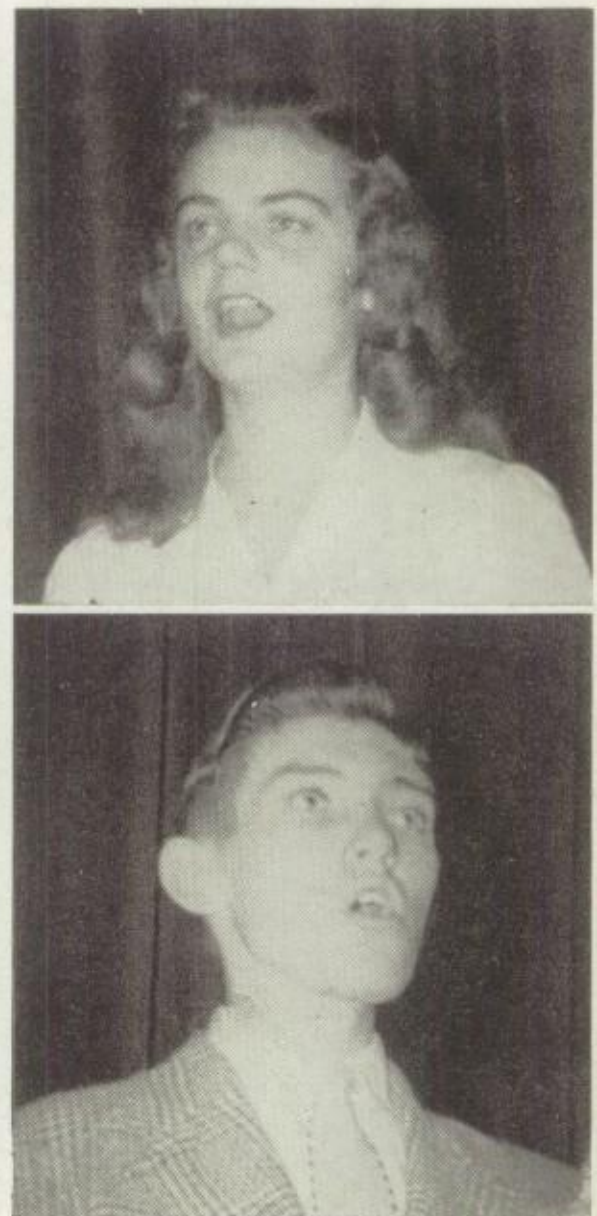

Singing seems to be the thing this year. The size and quality of the choir and of the glee clubs have doubled. The junior classes are just a milestone cross before getting into the senior choir. Singing for the Christmas program, Fountain Street Church, Bach Festival, Schubert Club and the Spring concert has kept them busy. Special awards have been given to a few seniors for extra activities.

Girl Soloist, Norman Kalawart.

Boy Soloist, Roger Bauer.

Gleeful Singers Deliver Music the "Best" Way

The music department, which boasts many talented students, has gone through the year bringing much delight. The boys' and girls' glee clubs and the mixed choir groups have sung and sung again with spirit at many school assemblies.

The Girls' Junior Glee Club is progressing rapidly under the strict guidance of Miss Florence Best. The Junior Glee girls can be remembered for their splendid performance in many assemblies. Various styles of songs are boasted by this outstanding group. Members are: first row: Wolsiecky, Lindberry, Brown, Batchelder, Hansen, Matthews, Wieland; second row: Holmes, Irwin, Heuer, Upton, McDawee, Burton, Berdan.

Singing with body and soul are (left to right) Earl Paige, Martin Burns, Dan Phillips and John French, four of the twenty members of the Junior Boys' Glee, which meets three noons a week. Preparing themselves to join the Senior Boys' Glee, these members learn the fundamentals of group singing. This group has participated in the Christmas and Spring Concert.

Deadline Dithers Overcome by Red Hawk Staff

Barbara

With a six-page paper as his goal, O. Reisman, managing editor, guided the one-semester life of this year's Reflector to a flourishing finish. Here he is conferring with Marjorie Schneider, front-page news editor, on an idea for her page layout. Marge did an excellent job, putting a great deal of time into turning out a well-balanced and attractive front page.

Planning for their last Reflector came Yvonne Wood, feature page editor; Charmaine Chicky, assistant news editor; and Lois Hoek, chief editorial writer. The girls are discussing subjects for stories and editorials that will promote modernization of the school building, one point in the paper's platform.

Whether the story explaining the Varsity Club's new set of rules should appear on a news page or the sports page is the cause of the debate between Merlin Sumner and Muriel Spoelstra, sports editor, and Audry Riddering, page 4 editor. Each of the editors has justifiable arguments.

Barbara Proctor, efficient advertising manager for the Reflector staff, also acts as chief typist. Here she is busy typing out feature-page copy while Barbara V. Neuren, editor, supervises.

Rush! The deadline is today. Copy, headlines, and editing must be completed by tonight. Headlines that have oomph and sparkle are under creation by Marie Damson, Virginia Neper, Betty Boryce, Ruth A. Karian, Donna Wickert, and Joyce De Roo, reporters and columnists on the staff.

Meet the Gang Who Wrote This '47 Yearbook

Deciding on art work for the divisional pages can be quite a trying task, as Marjorie Schneider, business manager, Iris Bodle, Ruth Apkarian, and Ann Speth circulation managers; Lynne Waddell, art editor, and Gareth Renkes, photographer, have discovered. Barbara Upton, managing editor, and Janet Hammer, associate editor, help make the final decisions.

Tedious problems arise and soon perish, once Aurora divisional editors are on the job. Here the editors, Mary Phillips, Peggy Crane, Marie Golubski, Delores Koets, Marian Haberman, and Marie Damson, decide where to place a play picture in the yearbook.

Pride and joy of the '47 staff are Shirley Tweddale and Gary Renkes, talented artist and photographer. Shirley did the art work and Gary took 300 photographs.

"To Each His Own" would be a very good title for this picture when an analyst reviews the various jobs done in preparation for the yearbook. Included in the group are: (standing) Baranowski, Nyberg, Ardrey, Strobejko; (seated) Boryce, miniature picture chairman; Pierce, Gryczanowski, Mayo; and Post, photo ticket chairman. Missing is Donna Cebelak.

Striving to become "helpful Hannahs," the Future Homemakers of America demonstrate some of the household duties. Miss Traut, adviser, and Ruth Apkarian, vice-president, look on while Betty Boryce, secretary, sews on the electric sewing machine and Marie Golubski, president, darns a sock. Missing from the picture is Louise Nalbadian, treasurer.

Demonstrating how to put the finishing touches on the hand-made dolls is Miss Gertrude Young as she guides Donna Chapel, Felicia Staskiewicz, and Marilyn Phillips in the correct method of sewing Red Cross tags. Because of this club, Union is 100 per cent on top in all Red Cross drives.

Eagerly They Serve

The Business Club bustles with busy people! Started in connection with occupational training program under the supervision of Mrs. Marble, its aim is to help students at their job. Elaine Whally, secretary-treasurer, and Charles McNulty, vice-president, help President Howard Fletcher (seated) select a date for a dance they are sponsoring.

Operating the projector in Room 134 during their free periods and sponsoring noon-hour movies to aid visual education is all in a day's work for these ambitious members of the Movie Club. Officers for the club are: (left to right) S/Sgt. Sanders and Mr. Chamberlain, advisers; Del Kubiak, vice-president; Gerald Tomasik, treasurer; Frank Rocci, a member; and Bob Trapp, president.

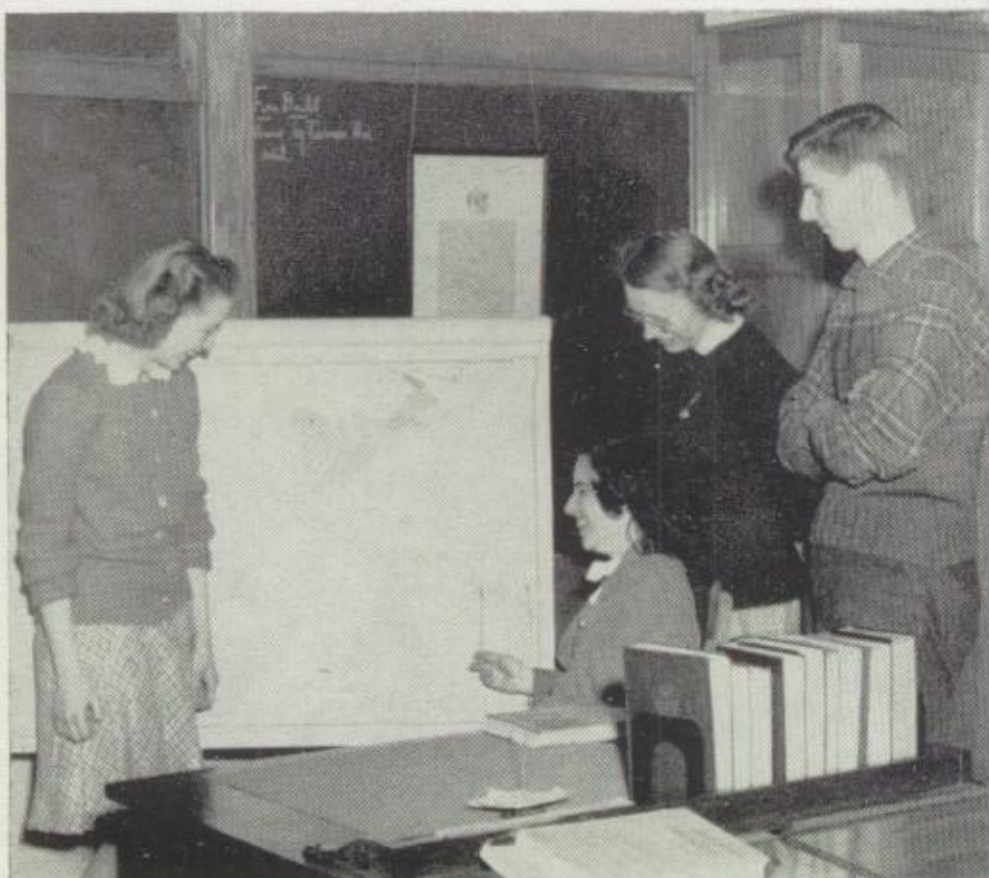

The old and the new of the Y-Teens! Pat Dressler, Ann Speth, Ruth Apkarian, and Sally White, out-going officers, gaze at a list of events of the past year, while Janet Hammer, Yvonne Wood, Norma Raper, and Ivah Gollar, new officers, look on, hoping to gain helpful hints.

They Shine in Ambition

Earning money towards their own movie projector is the aim this year of the Spanish Club, advised by Miss Carpenter. To aid the students, Spanish speaking movies are shown. Officers for the year were: president, Norma Haan; vice-president, Norma Raper; secretary, Lorraine Wozniak; treasurer, Gay Van Otteren.

Marie Damson, president of the Latin Club, presents the gavel to the new president, Donna Bowkamp, while other officers, Richard Anderson, Shirley Webber, and Louise Nalbanian, watch. This organization sponsored noon-hour dancing last semester. The Latin Club, advised by Miss Blake, contributes yearly to the Jennings' Scholarship Award for the best language student.

Detail Halt!

Companies E and F this year have been united into one group, Company C. During the previous years any senior high boy with passing mark could be in the R.O.T.C., but at the beginning of the semester, a "C" average was required for "rookies" and "B" for officers and cadets.

On the annual Field Day Company C received second place and also won several other outstanding awards. Their precision drilling has been recognized throughout the city and state.

Another of the companies' activities is the annual R.O.T.C. Military Ball, which may be attended by any one of the cadets, officers and non-commissioned officers. The '47 ball was held in the early spring, at the Armory.

"Forward March-one-two, halt," may be heard coming from the boys' gym every Monday and Thursday noon, as forty-five girls go into their steps. Among these enthusiasts are: first row: Phelps, Flora, Havinga; second row: Blik, Skutt, Van Malsen, Van Dalsen, Le Baron, Pierce, Hessel, Gillette, Johnson, Gingrich; third row: Mc Connell, Stepanchuk, Walter, Shatech, Veldman, Mentgen, Cummings, Gigowski, Hill; fourth row: Balter, Cummings, Blik, Bruning, Bouwkamp, Haadsma, Moore, De Koine, Johnson; fifth row: Dickerson, Duiven, Ver Howe, Van Oss, Kalenda, Shippy, Dalman, Fik, Farran.

Raising "Old Glory" to its height each morning is the task of these R.O.T.C. boys. They are (left to right): Warner, Roh, Trowbridge, Mc Divitt, and Roth.

R. O. T. C. Strives to Put Its Talents on Parade

"Straighten your tie," "Polish your shoes," and "Shine your buttons" were all familiar commands heard just before the final regimental inspection — Field Day, May, 1946. Company E took second place for the best company in the city. Union's R.O.T.C. also claimed second place for the best squad, third place for the best platoon, first and second place for the best officer, and second place for best non-commissioned officer.

The standards for membership were raised when Col. John J. Barker P.M.T. and Capt. Richard A. Rowland, jr. took charge of the groups from Grand Rapids. A 'B' average is a "must" for the officers and nothing below a "C" for the sergeants.

The Bars and Chevrons Club worked hard this year to bring the officers and subordinates closer together and get them into the habit of working as a group.

Underclassmen

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing; therefore Drink Ye Deeply," reads little Joan Rausch as she drinks from the fountain. Waiting for their taste of knowledge are Janet Haan, Ethel Fish, and John Kurkjian.

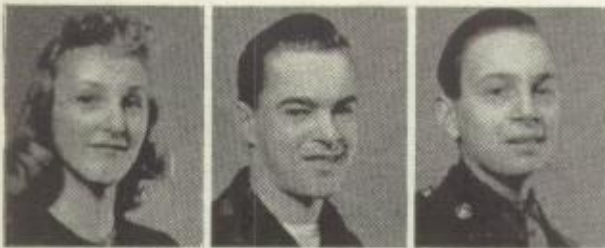

Gay school spirit, trials and tribulations, a friendly but studious atmosphere tell the story of the six years which beginners will brave. Becoming active in their freshman year, peppy ninth graders keep up the morale of fellow Unionites with weekly sales of doughnuts, eclairs, and jelly buns.

Stepping lively, the sophomores put on a dreamy spring dance, perfectly set for the season when "a young man's fancy turns to love." The juniors go all out with a year packed full of activities — the Holadaze, typifying the Christmas spirit; the Prom, honoring the seniors; after-basketball-game dances to soothe the excited crowds. Yes, from all these lively underclassmen Union may well "expect a victory" in the years to come.

"Your Coat, Please"

Ambitious and willing, the Junior Class of '47 took full responsibility for the dances after basketball games. The proceeds were put into their treasury to be reserved until they are seniors, a system devised by Mr. Early, junior adviser. Left to right are Bloom, Chicky, Howland, and Wiersma.

"Lovely to Look At"

The class rings arrive! Proudly showing theirs to one another are Darlene Beyer, Cedric Pier-son, and Arliss Schoenfeldt, Class of '48. The ring is one of the most exciting events of the year for the juniors. It is proof to the world that they have ap-proached the threshold of sen-iorhood.

Sophs Hit Second Base

To insure better attendance at their class meetings, the sophomores decided to distribute attendance cards. No one could get into these meetings without a card. Elected to head the class were: Jan Wegenka, president; Leonard Caminer, committee chairman; Elaine Kutchin, secretary; and Emil Morlock, treasurer. Their adviser is Miss McDermott.

Up Go Gay Displays

These bright students are found in subjects taken by the frosh, namely civics, English, science, and mathematics. Two students from each class have been chosen by the teachers for their "A" average in these subjects. Standing from the top down in the left-hand row are Donald Budd, Kenneth Champion, Michael Huer, Otto Husted, Bill Higgins, and Dan DeBoer. In the right hand row are Donna Hoogerhyde, Evelyn Myers, Mary Fales, Nancy Denomie, and David Cross. With many outside activities already assumed on the side this year, forward goes this little sample of the Quiz Kids of 1950!

Diminutive Beginners Make Big-Time Showing

That they may have a better understanding of their studies, their teachers, and school regulations, Jean Littel, senior counsellor (top right), counsels Belke, Runner, Shearer, Seymore, and Cross, on how to solve the problems that come in their first year of high school.

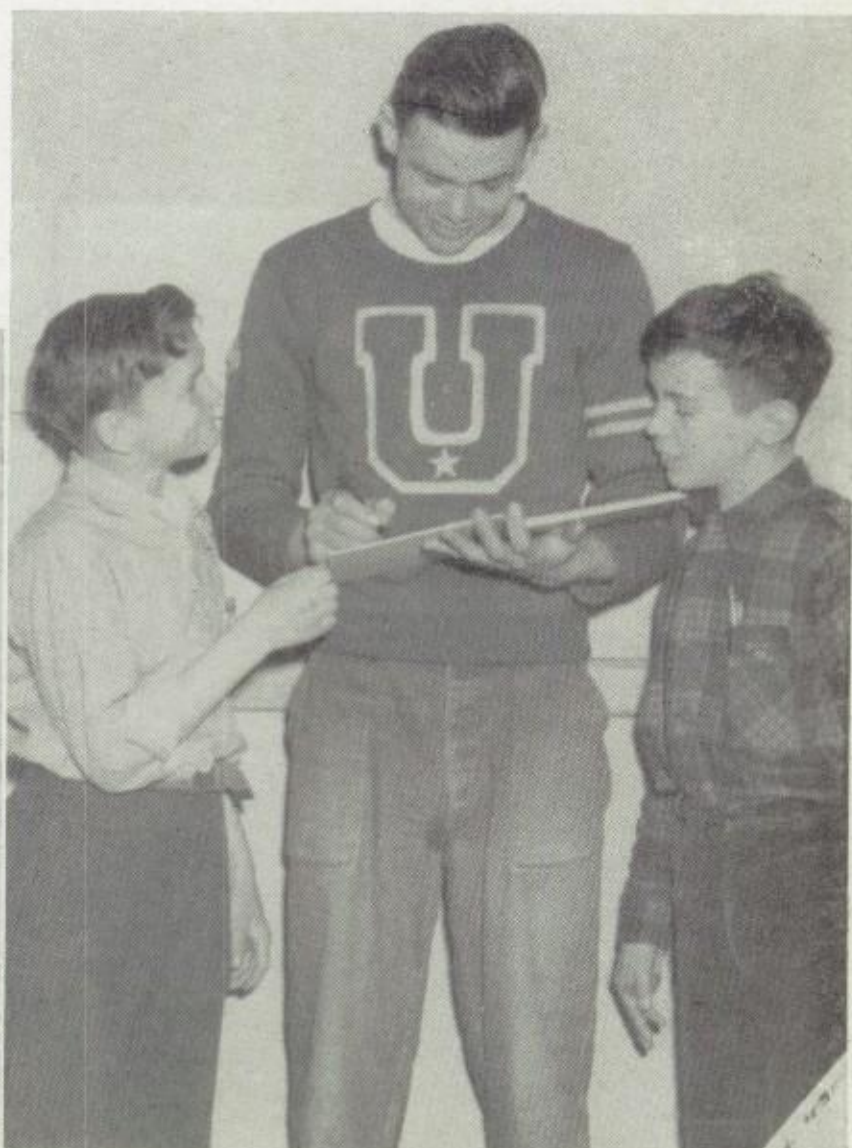

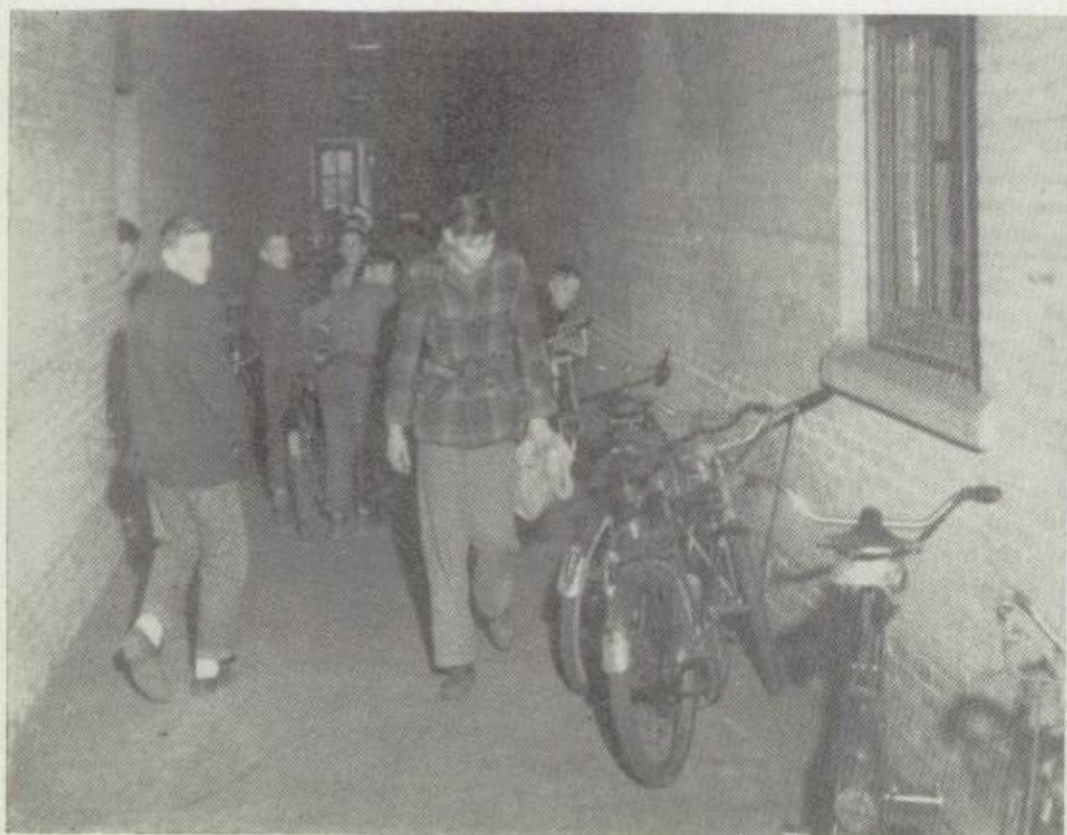

The Junior Hi-Y club under the leadership of Mr. Emery Freeman, adviser, and Marvin Heemstra, chairmen, have as their purpose "to work together for a finer community and a better world." Overnight hikes and a basketball league are examples of the fun that these boys share.

What would a modern school be without its bike room? These students (lower right) rush to get their bikes for the trip home.

Promising themselves that they will be just like their hero someday, little Robert Richards and Charles Swanson (lower right) beam all the admiration their thirteen years possess, while Sports Star Dale Ganzevoort signs their Aurora. They look ahead to the day when they will wear the major "U" of a sports player.

Seniors

Starting the fall meeting with an exceptionally large number of participants, the 1947 Senior Class gave their loyal support to their guiding officers and cheered for the world-experienced veterans. Before the race began, they unresitatingly pledged themselves to completing the war memorial, and placed it on display with their addition of the table and guardway.

The first lap was passed with a mirth-packed dance, Cider Jug Jig. Rounding the far turn, they brought out their play, "Go Ahead." Then, passing the batton, a new set of runners came up, initiating the first all-city Senior Mixer. Driving forth into the long awaited Skip Day, they flew on to the Prom homestretch.

With an added dash of speed, the leaders tore over the finish line to receive the Dillingham Cup, Gold Keys, and a top-ten rating as highest honors. But none of the seniors actually lost in the contest, for all received the greatest award of all, their diplomas.

Do You Remember

those first September days when we went around in a wonderful haze of program signing and enrollment . . . the kicking shut of lockers . . . the thrill of the first football game . . . the way we enjoyed our bigger and better Reflector . . . how fervently we worked to entertain ourselves as we grieved the loss of the old homestead, the Club Co-ed . . . the excursion to Detroit when the bus driver almost lost his way and Don Coates and Marv Heemstra serenaded us while Betty Shippy almost froze . . . ah yes! physics class and those experiments we all tried to perform, especially when Dick "Fireman" Anderson's demonstration of a fire extinguisher back-fired and the school almost burned down . . . how proud we felt when Pat Dressler won the state D.A.R. Award?

the 1947 "Frollies" with its unusual style show and beautiful "Powers" models . . . the gleaming new white sweaters worn so proudly by the cheer leaders, "thanks" to the Varsity Club . . . the fun of exchanging senior photos with our class-mates . . . the way the hydrogen experiment Bob Trapp was making exploded in chemistry class while Bob stood calmly by tearing his hair out . . . those term papers in pre-college English which Miss Perschbacher "requested" us to compose . . . choosing our class motto, "Knowledge is a treasure but practice is the key to it?"

the way the vets "loitered" in the halls during home-room period . . . Louise Nalbandian standing on a chair in order to reach Otto Reisman's head to measure him for his graduation cap . . . how Ruth Apkarian, beaming and starry-eyed, floated into journalism class after Principal Everest informed her she was winner of the Dillingham Cup . . . and Abner Ragins' blushing face when the same honor was announced for him in a Student Council meeting . . . how that thrill of pride played on our spines when we saw the completed memorial for the first time . . . the gay time we all had at the Senior Serenade?

how those senior meetings kept us out of our first-hour classes . . . the swishing of formals at the Junior-Senior Prom . . . how jubilant we were when we learned we could have an excursion to Detroit for our Skip Day . . . the luscious dinner and entertaining speakers so enjoyed at the Honor Banquet . . . how at long last, turning limp at the sound of our names, we glided across the stage to receive that cherished diploma?

Mock Election

Do you recall how the returns of our mock election crowned Pat Dressler most popular girl and Ed Shustha (5) our best-liked and best-looking boy . . . gave Otto Reisman (2) the titles of class wit and class politician . . . named Val Smitter and Ivah Gollar the best-dressed boy and girl and Dee Sosnowski (7) the prettiest girl . . . honored Dick Anderson (3) and Pat Dressler for their prowess in scholarship . . . designated Ruth Apkarian and Bette Boryce (4) and Fred Collins and Jean Littell (8) class pals . . . pegged Virginia Baranowski and the suave Val Virginia class flirts . . . Janet Hammer (6) class chatterbox . . . Marjory Schneider and Charles Cicelski class inseparables?

On-the-Job Training Creates Future Experts

Absent from school in the afternoon — yet they receive five hours credit toward graduation. These students earn their points by on-the-job work. This year the occupational training program has reached its peak with 68 Unionites under the supervision of Mrs. Marble with the help of Miss West and of Mr. Wood as the all-city supervisor. On-the-job-training was originally promoted by the retail committee of the Association of Commerce under the co-operation of the State Board of Health Control for Vocational Education and the Board of Education.

TAG MARKERS

EVELYN BYRNE and BLANCHE CLIFFORD, Union seniors, work gayly side by side at Herpolsheimer's. These two are taking profitable part in the city's learn-to-work-training program. Here they are marking tags which will go on merchandise.

GROCERY WORKER

"RED" FLETCHER wants to own a grocery store, and is gaining practical experience by working for the A & P Company. Details he learns now will be put into use at his future business.

TYPIST

DOROTHY FORD, blue-eyed senior, spends her afternoons and Saturdays at filing, typing, "an' stuff" in the office of the maintenance department at Wurzburg's. She hopes to continue after graduation.

PRESSMAN

HARRY ROGALSKE, apprentice pressman, has been working at the Dependable Printing Company a whole year. He likes it, and wants to make printing his life ambition with a shop of his own.

STORE CLERK

"Femininity plus" describes captivating LUCILLE DE ROOS, worker in the lingerie department at Wurzburg's. Assisting in the credit office as a careful cashier and modeling in style shows are merely part of her day's work.

BUTCHER

"Meat, meat, meat," reply the customers when CHARLES McNULTY of the Stanton Store asks them if they may be helped. A super market may someday be under this manager who learned to carve meat for high school credit.

CUSHION MAKER

The Grand Rapids Leather Furniture Company is fortunate to have a workman like JIM POST. As a cushion maker, he is one of the links in the production of a leather chair.

BOOKKEEPER

The helpful experience gained by ANNABELLE HOOGERHYDE in accounting and bookkeeping at Darling Truck Lines will start her on that winding road to success, if she keeps up her excellent work.

PHOTOGRAPHER

Enlarging photographs is one of the jobs GARETH RENKES performs at West-Dempster's. He has proved his ability in taking pictures as the Aurora photographer. Late into the night Gary spends his time developing and enlarging prints.

SAW FILER

ELMER SNOAP spends his afternoons at his father's saw-filing establishment. He has apprenticed with his father for four years and hopes to continue this trade.

SERVICE RECORDER

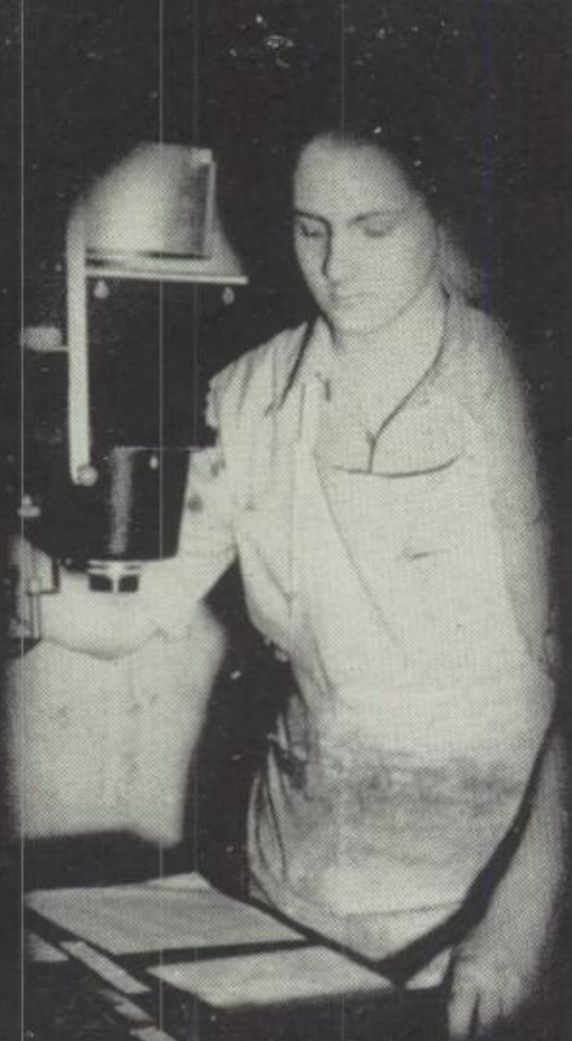

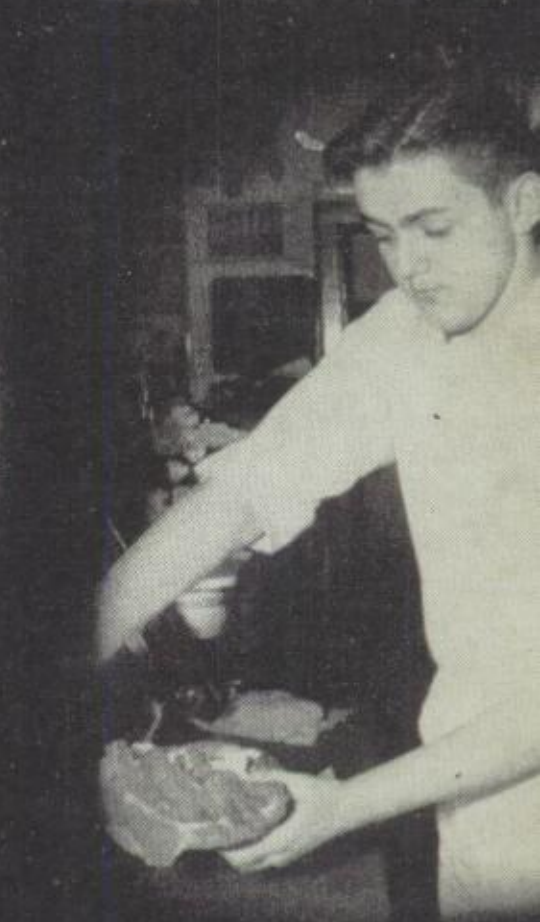

Just a "little kitten on the keys" is KAY ROMINE who works at Old Kent Bank as part of her occupational-training program. In addition to typing, Kay posts the service records.

ADDRESS MAKER

Zip, zip is the noise that the addressograph makes at the Baxter Laundry where EUGENE GOBER is busy making addresses on thin metal plates for stamping bills and laundry. Eugene also makes out bills and does stock work.

CLOTHING SALESMAN

"Right this way," directs RONALD GLASS as he sells clothing at Jurgens and Holtvluwer. He now works half-days with the prospect of being employed full-time after graduation.
